All of The World's Leaders are Under the Control of Someone or Something Not of This World

And by leaders I mean not only politically but also the mega rich and mega influential.

Everything is being orchestrated, possibly even natural disasters such as earthquakes and volcanic eruptions.

There is no God but we are eternal life forces with much power. In this form we are mostly powerless unless we simultateously combine in great numbers.

When we die they try and lure us into the trap once again because they are fearful of our capabilities if we are let off our leash.

Yep.

Re: All of The World's Leaders are Under the Control of Someone or Something Not of This World

Do you know how insane you sound.

You speak about "supernatural forces" And you deny the only God who will end this all.

It doesn't matter if millions of people unite because they will all face destruction.

Too bad you're too blind to know where the real help is.

I assure you, you can't even help yourself.

If you follow the light after you leave your body you will have to endure this Hell once again. Possibly even worse. If you manage to resist the light and break out of your trance you will finally be free. There are currently not enough free souls to put an end to this ancient twisted process. Free souls can come back here to guide and help steer the trapped souls but are mostly powerless and often ignored. Your gut feelings and intuitions are often induced by these free souls. :)

Re: All of The World's Leaders are Under the Control of Someone or Something Not of This World

We don't have to ask them to be let off the leash.

We have to unhook ourselves.

Some of the Earth-based leaders are trying to side with the Anomalies now, but their off-world bosses won't let them.

War for Souls now in progress.

It's similar to the Vietnam war, where there was widespread discontent, and many GIs refused orders.

All we can do is hope Everyone gets unhooked.

An abundance of free souls has the power to play God and put an end to this age old Hellish Trap.

We don't have to unite in traditional ways. Protests and street action would help, but are not essential.

Groups of 2,3,5 people is just fine. 2 guys working together can do a lot. 500,000 groups of two equals a million people.

It's a lot harder to subvert if it's amorphous and decentralized like that.

Interesting. So when you exit and go to the 'real world', do you feel you are travelling inside, or outside?

We have lots of powers. It's just hard to access them without a lot of work, self-belief, and a clean diet.

So what made everything?

You saying everything that exist created itself out of nothing with just random design?

The odds of that are infinity to 1.

I know people who do whatever they need in moments of extreme need. Godlike things. We are far from powerless...unless you choose to believe that then you surely are powerless here.

I teach classes on it. How to use those powers everyone says you don't have.
