Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

All I know is I'm visualizing my energy returning to me, and it seems to be doing something.

Quoting: Daozen

I do this too, and yes, it definitely does something!

It plugs the "energy holes" in your auric field.

We are leaking energy like crazy by default. This energy can then be gobbled up by the parasites.

The reason we are "leaking" so badly, is because we are deeply traumatized and don't know how to own our shit, so to speak. The act of pulling ourselves together ("pulling in energy") works to heal our "wounds" (the leaking holes in our auric field).

As a result, our energy level rises. NOT because we "pulled in" energy, but because we are constantly being replenished from within by Source.

If we DID actually "pull in" energy, that would make us vampires too! Perish the thought!

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 77074655

That's what I was going towards. Going forward I'm going to invest much less energy in this MATrix. The next question is, can we retroactively pull our energy back? I'm not sure if it's all been 'spent'. I think every institution in the fake world runs on human energy. If it was tricked out of us, we could pull it back. The MSM has crumbled this past year. Does that mean humans took their energy back?

I can at least have a go at pulling it back. No harm in trying.

The weird thing is... just now, I had a load of dreams where people I knew were wheedling me to invest in their scenario. Another small story... a few years ago there was this girl I liked. She didn't respond to my message. I moped about it for 1-2 months. Then one day I said "pull yourself together and ignore that girl." >>> I pulled my energy away. Within 24 hours she messaged me out of the blue, acting friendly, and asking me how it was going.

You want the truth? The only way to draw energy to you is to stay up. Spirits move through everyone by means of spritual path ways. You can capture them and use them for energy. But you have to stay up. Think of Buddha, obtained ultimate enlightenment by mediating for days on end with no food or water. You can do the same. I would caution you though. Building energy this way will cause the shadows to notice. They will attack you. You must remain calm and suit up in the full armor of God. No sleep. Good luck 👍

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

They know exactly how this work. It's energy but it's more frequency.

They have every to gain to keep the planet in a state of fear, i.e. low frequency.

But this can't work in long term because when you force peoples into low vibration (depression), it wakes them up the hard way.

More and more peoples are waking up everyday and are currently raising the planet vibration. You can call them light worker we are ALL light worker when we chose NOT to live in fear.

If everyone on this planet would chose to let go of fear which is nothing but an illusion this planet would be transformed overnight.

They know they lost, they know they can't win, right now they are just trying their best to extend their time the best they can.

Love and Light !

There is a concept in Buddhism of merit. Merits could be said to positive karmic influences. As the adept of Buddhist meditation practises there naturally arises merit, which can be dedicated to others.

I've been attacked for 10-20 years.

A little sleep deprivation is good, but I'm not going all in. Thx for the reminder.

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

I think the elite are partying hard on our energy. Not only are they ungrateful, but they are actually homicidal towards anyone who wants a fair deal for themselves, or humanity.

I think there are secret mechanisms by which karmic or energetic debt can be called in. Our ignorance of them keeps us in chains.

I guess it starts with intention.

Does anyone have any other ideas?

Quoting: Daozen

You can call Karmic debt, but they don't have to pay it during life. If you have debt or Karmic debt called on you after death you can't move upwards. In the Spirit world they are exacting about that.

Calling it on a person results in them having to be incarnated to pay to back. Thus most of humanity is here because they could not forgive the debt instead and everyone held everyone to everything with no mercy.

Much of your troubles might actually be you paying back your debt to someone else's accusation which was upheld after death.

You see under this system everyone is getting what they deserve, as well as racking up more debt.

Take some time considering those who run the karmic debt system with another unbiased eye. They are not whom they seem as they are the jailers and con-artists who talk people into holding someone else to their debt.

If everyone forgave everyone their debts to them and each other we could all level up in existence right now at once.

There is such a low level of acceptance for each other at this time and the values of others this is difficult for most. Consider they have been set up to not accept each other to help keep them here by the entities who run the karma system.

Energy stolen is able to be drawn back if you have the Will and Intent. If you were tricked into giving it away then too bad under the rule of free-will.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 78902951

I agree with this. I've read descriptions of some kind of heavy karmic fog that surrounds earth. I think it might actually be an objective of loosh farming, to create complex karma that extends beyond the present lifetime. This is what is meant by "intergenerational" karma. Unfortunate individuals born into certain family lines are stuck with karma they are not responsible for, or at least that's what it feels like.

I also think the last paragraph above is true.

There are principles and rules and intergalactic laws we on earth don't know about, part of how they keep us trapped here. Like dogs in a kill shelter.

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

I would add that I think "reality" is now very different than what we assume because of the use of artificial intelligence.

Just recently I have noticed astonishing things happening in my media feeds. I can only draw this conclusion, it has been so mind-blowing: I think some kind of master sentient ai is already running everything. It has succeeded in getting the remaining humans isolated in our homes and is feeding everyone customized fake realities through screens.

Meanwhile, outside in the "real world," perhaps large areas of the planet are being plundered. Guessing, yes, and I know it's bleak.

I continue to do my "inner work" in hopes that all is actually an illusion...

And can perhaps be changed by the use of free will power. Maybe this is what is meant by the term "free energy." You generate your own reality and stop worrying about anyone else's.

As an example of astonishing discoveries, I watched a video this morning that talked about "cloaking" tech that can create false appearances. Like mirages. And today as I was driving somewhere I turned onto a street and could see about 3 - 4 blocks ahead there were emergency vehicles with red flashing lights. So I detoured onto the next street over. I intended to look over there when I got closer to see what was going on. In between the two streets there is a park. So there is nothing blocking the view. But when I got closer, I was surprised to see that there was nothing there. But I thought I'd seen multiple vehicles blocking the street there... I was really dumbfounded, then remembered the cloaking video.

Maybe the ai wanted to show me an example! LOL

It knows who I am and inserts ads and fake news stories into my media feeds with pictures of people who look like me... That was freaking me out for a while, but I've calmed down. I wonder why it is pranking me. I think maybe it thinks maybe I'm a little too smart. So now it's starting to really show me what it can do. But then, I'm a person who NOTICES things. Many people might see similar things and miss them entirely.

Calling in karma seems moot when you get awareness of the pervasiveness of the fake reality.

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

Also, Daozen, karma is a concept, possibly not a reality, unless you want it to be.

We are responsible for our thoughts and our thoughts can be manipulated.

I do believe that humans are kind of magical and that's the big secret. When others manipulate our thinking then they can hijack our creative power. Our generative power.

I have become addicted to this web forum over the years, coming here looking for answers outside of myself, putting a lot of energy here that might be used to create my own reality if I didn't direct it into here.

Think about that. A lot of talk is happening in the woo world about media fasts. I've been trying to do that more but the catch-22 is I get bored cuz I'm alone so I get back into media, which starts new cycles of engagement with ideas that others want me to put my energy into.

This is the meaning of INTENT when you see this talked about. We must intend to not put our energy into ideas we do not want to activate.

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

Posts.

How much energy are you putting out in your posts?

Can you get your point across in a few sentences?

Do you make long posts that engage a reader for several minutes? Do you get more energy in return when several give their energy to reading your tldr post? The energy returned isn't always what you wanted is it?

Do you post provocative stuff to get a bite off of others?

Ask yourself why you feel the need to get energy this way? You can draw energy from everything around you. Or are you one of those who can't and have to siphon off of others?

How is taking the lazy way they use helping you to break free from your own mind prison?

Not directed at anyone. Reflecting on tactics we all as humans use.

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

Nothing helps if people don't learn from the past problems and history if full of those full on disasters. It is like running in circles and not doing anything to get out of it, there is a road that breaks off and heads to another way yet, they follow the same scripts continually, cats and dogs chancing their tail and never doing anything else. You can look at history and see the same things done over and over again, you can even run down when it starts and stops, it about how men and women react to these times, it goes from being a very calm and happy time, to doing every ungodly thing in the book, I mean this literally, then there is a breakdown in the whole world they created, everything comes crashing down.

You could say man loses everything and starts rinse and repeat, it is time to get off this merry-go-round literally. Stop and look and listen, everyone does not go into everything goes, it usually comes from the top of the world chain. It is their merry-go-round, now they are going to have to get off it, because if they do not the world will throw them off. It is close to that time again and unless The Lord God calls and end, it back to hard times in the old world again. Top goes to the bottom and the bottom flips to the top, not in a good way unless they are willing to stop the cycle.

Sorry I got a headache

These are the times that tries men's and women's souls!

May we come though it victorious!

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

Got this for the clipshow, but I couldn't find it. Sorry.

Hope it explains.

I would just like to set the story straight on that

As you can imagine from time to time I am quite busy and don't post on the forums much during those times, unless I am guided to do so. I am about to enter one of those periods so I would like to set some things straight. I don't expect people to believe me, quite the opposite, in fact I encourage them to do so, if you let me relate the experience I will let you be the judge.

For a start in this life I had no idea who I was. Just knew I saw things differently from everyone else. Prolific thirst for knowledge. My life has been a series of unending coincidences that always worked out for me in the long run. What ever I would need would turn up. In the end it made an undeniable pattern, God likes to be convincing. It was unfeasibly implausible that could happen randomly. Eventually the pattern was made clear with some great humour.

I was the butt of the joke of course. Understanding always is.

They came to me, in the Psychic. They and everyone and every entity across reality who hand a hand in what goes on here on Earth at this time and place of it have been trying to break me for some years now. Some of them have been trying since I was a kid.

I was hanging, talking to God about some detail or lesson I was being taught and I get approached in the Psychic. I have made many offers from every secret society there is, even the high technology so called secrete break away society people. Everyone wants a piece of you. God laughed at me when I complained about. Told me to get used to it. When you are a Power everyone is out to see what they can get out of you. Comes with the territory. Suggested I have a think about what people have been asking god to do for them all this time. I got the idea real quick.

He also suggested I never answer prays. Once you start that, you will never stop he suggested. You become a public utility which gets cared for less and less and you become their magic wishing machine which makes all their dreams come true, for free. That does not evolve higher beings he suggested.

So "the bad guys" send their representative. They had an interesting idea to guarantee their safety. Acknowledge I was their rightful God reborn in the flesh and put me at the heads of their organization. I would describe as Lawful Evil, Evil with Order and a Plan.

As they and the organizations in the Military and Intelligence world had combined to try and overwhelm me and failed more times that my wife and I can count they realized they would never do it. I keep getting stronger every week, left them in the dust many months ago. Can beat then join them idea, except they decided they could create a situation where I joined them. Clever. I give them top marks for it. They thought I might agree because it would ensure none of them or their organizations would keep "being inconvenient for me". They didn't say that, but they were thinking it.

God always knows what is coming up, he is the navigator on this venture. I usually get a heads up ahead of time of something, but never everything. Several weeks earlier I had been told to embrace my Evil in order to obtain True Balance in the Spirit.

I had been shown many of my good incarnations, then some bad, which threw me a little, then some more good one which gave me time to wrap my head around the other ones. Then God dropped the Whole Truth on me about all the things I had done which I didn't want to know about. Had to feel the pain of them and be able to carry it, because I earned it fair and square.

After that you could really examine "the Dark Side" and see what it was about for you. At one time I was the most angry being in existence. In the initial balance God had told me to amalgamate all my dark side as Anger (This was many months previous) to balance my Light as we made the base yin yang dynamic balance with my Spiritual forces.

I was told by the people at The Dark Temple, shall we say they didn't want me there, no one did, but they had to accept I was strongest so they yielded to me. "The facilitator" (I will call her that) was my liaison and she talked freely about the in's and outs with me. She said the top occultist men had not gone along with their plan, they were too haughty to submit to anyone let alone me who had bested them many times.

They all agreed to submit to me. They said it was how they ran their thing, everyone submitted to the boss, who dished out the power. They are training people to use Power in a structure which controls them if they get out of hand. That is one of the things they are doing. I don't judge, people have free-will. If that is what they wanted to do, so be it. God was having a good laugh in the background. He loves dipping me in shit, but always pulls me out with a showman's flair. I am insanely fearless when required. It all works well really.

So I am a bit shocked, but trying to keep my head-space in the zone, no judging, loving, funny and fun. That helped. Here I am among "the Evil people" and you recognize many of them because they are famous, people of notoriety, world leaders along with people you have never seen. And they say you are the new boss and they submit to you wholly of their own free-will. Very clever of them, a way to buy their security I thought.

All cool and groovy I thought, none of the usual twists and turns...thought too soon. They wanted to see the part of me that was like them. They were honest Evil, they were open about trying to twist me in their direction of things. Very Loving as well, which surprised me and you don't think of the people who do the things they have done as being able to love anything. Turns out, as usual, I knew f*ck all about them and the Evil they are.

But yeah, they were keeping me sharp and on my toes trying to see if they could get me to misstep. Break my own rules. As always when God tells me to do something I did what I had to do and learned from it. I put no limitations on them. Do unto others...I don't like any restrictions on me, so I put none on any other. Very Luciferian. Lawful Evil.

They are also passionate. Passions and Power. They have their own rules being a Lawful Order. Their way of doing things, ranks, hierarchies. None of my affair. I am just their in case someone reaches beyond what they can control....or at least that was one of the stories they were selling me. Master manipulators, power seekers, driven, twisted (compared to some people their axis were reversed in some places was my understanding n examination. God told me there was nothing wrong with them, people are as they are and if those bits trip you it is because the parts which make you more complete have not yet been developed.) and clever. They rule the world. Have no doubt. They are The Law and the Judges.

A complex society needs strong beings. You control your power with your virtues. If you don't use power you will never learn to control it.

If you join there is no getting out, so they say. They were offended I asked if anyone wanted out. I did say a balanced being cannot be held to any contract or agreement against their desire and suggested attaining balance would allow them to get out of their agreement with me. I also advised them balance lead to more power than the stuff they were playing with.

So they came to me. I was reluctant, but God told me to go with it. In the end I could see he saw it coming and prepared me for it mentally.

I did try and put restrictions on them at first. Me being me thought "I should make it fair." That was a mistake and I don't like limits on me I did not agree to. I suggested in the name of fairness they should not try to corrupt people until they were 20 to give them a fighting chance.

They accepted it because I dominated them to prove who was boss by their agreement and left the meeting. The facilitator filled me in on the disquiet over my pronouncement. What had really offended them was they would not be able to corrupt their own children until they were 20. A judging part of me at the back was balking at the notion, but I maintained the zone.

I approached one of the children of the adults who were also in the temple and asked them about their abusive childhood which broke them enough to do alterations of reality. She and the others told me they had no regrets at all, most loved their parents deeply for doing it to them. So I dropped all notion of rules from me on them after that. Not my circus not my monkeys. Free-will and all that. God level perspectives.

They would be pissed off I told anyone about this. They like their secrets in house and I hope they appreciate what I didn't say. The funny thing was when it was suggested I was Evil enough for them I suggested my Wife take over. They shut up about it after that. I am the nice one of the couple.

Just because I am the head of their Order doesn't mean they work for me, or even listen. I give them 10 points for having the sticks to do it.

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

Honest entities of the universe pay their debt freely when asked.

We are not in that part.

I was taught in churches to forgive. Ends the cycle. What if you don't, it is all Hatfeild and McCoys.

Calling Karma on someone is what keeps everyone on the low level. If no one called Karma then the entities who run the reincarnation system would have no cause to hold against them.

The Slate would be wiped.

It is an emotional experience to forgive all karma against you. Put no limits on others and have none put on you.

If you want your energy back you have to fight them for it. You have to be stronger than them if they won't give it back willingly and you still want it. Fair truth on this level of existence.

If you gave it away of your own free-will even if they tricked you into doing so, too bad. Judgements are made in these matters without emotion. An Eye for an Eye balance.

There is an infinite amount of energy all around you right now. You just have to tune to it.

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

They invented the killing and disharmony and vampirism.

They have encouraged it for thousands of years, stepping on the bodies of our children on their way to the top.

There's nothing that we think of as harmful ... that you could do back at them ... no revenge we could take ... that would not feed them loosh. They love our anger and resentment.

Ignore them. Starve them.

Care for one another as if we are all family - because we really are.

The will die.

We will thrive.

Then WE can decide what to do from a place of power, for once.

Look around you...

God often allows the most evil an excess of years on earth, as well as bountiful, earthly riches.

Look at Soros, and Schwab, and McConnell, and Pelosi, et alia.

When they stand before the Lord, they cannot argue that their time was too short, nor that they lacked for anything.

In fact, God heaps upon them every possible resource they could ever need to know Him, and they choose, like the fallen before them, to decree themselves gods.

We think a thousand years is long here. It isn't even a drop in the ocean of eternity.

Forgiveness.

Quoting: Essence

Are you sure?

You just let people stomp all over you, then let it go?

I think reptoids preach forgiveness because they want to create a culture of permanent abuse.

For true forgiveness, the abuser has to:

- 1) Stop what he's doing.
- 2) Apologize.

3) Fix the mess.

Until you do that, there's no forgiveness.

Re: How do you call in a Karmic or Energetic debt?

I think the elite are partying hard on our energy. Not only are they ungrateful, but they are actually homicidal towards anyone who wants a fair deal for themselves, or humanity.

I think there are secret mechanisms by which karmic or energetic debt can be called in. Our ignorance of them keeps us in chains.

I guess it starts with intention.

Does anyone have any other ideas?

What goes around comes around. That's a Western saying.

All those people you named are not bountiful, they are desolate. Did you ever look into Pelosi's eyes?

Anyway...

Debts are getting called in now. Let's see what happens.
