They Nuked the Anomaly Sadness Thread. Nasty.

Too inspiring, huh.

Mrs Bauer is not amused.

Bruce Palpatine getting jelly again?

You see we were getting our act together, inspiring each other.

Working things out.

That makes Bruce Palpatine shake with rage.

Were you reading, mang?

It was one of the best Nom threads ever. I really feel we were vibrationally taking off.

Someone complained about having no cash, then I listed all the things you can do for five dollars, and made a rousing speech, lol.

I felt a cheer go up from the heavens.

Then some Dutch greaseball nuked the thread.

I have it all saved on Github, except the last 10 posts.

I should literally hit Ctrl-P every minute.

I honestly felt the entire Earth was ascending when that thread hit it's stride.

At least I know what terrifies them now.

Clear, focused, grounded, inspiring rhetoric.

Re: They Nuked the Anomaly Sadness Thread. Nasty.

The whole galaxy is watching this SIM.

The idea is, we fix this simulation, and/or make it ascend, and that helps everyone else up.

What gets me, is that Earth is making such ripples in the multiverse, that they are literally terrified of 10 people on a thread.

That's how close we are to breaking vibrationally free.

I have been suggesting for some time now we up stakes and move to another site where we can't be controlled or censored.

JUST SAYING.

You can't blame me for once. I was shopping in town. I live in the middle of nowhere.

I'm glad someone has been saving it.

Most of the stuff I write is straight from the heart and on the fly. It used to kill me a bit every time they deleted that stuff.

They know what they are doing. They have shown intent often enough.

I used to run my own site Daozen.

Are you interested in collecting the most creative types (the are the best problem solvers) and running a site. Invite only you control it that way you will feel comfortable with what goes on there.

Just a suggestion.

Have you ever raised a child?

Sometimes you have to let them come to a limited amount of harm for them to fully learn a vital lesson.

Every good parent has to do that. You have to let the people you are educating come to harm sometimes so they can fully understand without getting extinct.

A good parent or educator will go to any length to make sure those in their care are fully able to look after and defend themselves.

Why would I want the threads where I post vital information to my followers deleted?

That is why I post in your threads so often. It used to be rare they were deleted and my followers would read your threads to see if I had posted in them.

I have pointed out it is almost the same time of day when those threads get deleted, an hour or two before the start of the new day for GLP. That tells you it is the late night mod, they often get to mod alone without oversight.

That is when they delete threads whom they have grudges against without any other mods knowing.

I have been on forums for 20 years. I have seen all their tricks over that time.

Only 6:30 here.

Plenty more hours before I am done.

So if I make the site myself you want to be invited or not?

People are allowed to have other opinions on sites I run even if they are opposite of what I believe at the time.

Beliefs are interchangeable. Sometimes you get new information and if you could not change your beliefs you would be stuck being wrong forever.

Lots of the people who think they are anomalies have the same patterns to them, but few among them see it because it gets deleted before they can add up the clues.

No one gets to compare backstories here. THEY won't allow it.

Just an offer, don't say I didn't bother.

Why would I want the threads where I post vital information to my followers deleted?

That is why I post in your threads so often. It used to be rare they were deleted and my followers would read your threads to see if I had posted in them.

I have pointed out it is almost the same time of day when those threads get deleted, an hour or two before the start of the new day for GLP. That tells you it is the late night mod, they often get to mod alone without oversight.

That is when they delete threads whom they have grudges against without any other mods knowing.

I have been on forums for 20 years. I have seen all their tricks over that time.

Your followers? Where?

Quoting: Lord Starrick

They know not to reveal themselves to outside observers.

They know if all they do is red and never post or register...no one knows who they are.

I teach them here. The ones who are psychic get taught more directly.

The ones who learn here open their psychic abilities over time by employing the techniques I teach.

Re: They Nuked the Anomaly Sadness Thread. Nasty.

373,

As you are keeping your tone calm and relaxed, I'll do the same.

No point in starting a huge food fight.

You have definitely dropped some info, and enriched my knowledge.

From my perspective, there are just too many times that you have said things which have come up as red flags for me, like your insistence that this is a competition. your belief that there can be Only One, and your apparent disinterest in Anomalies loosely cooperating, until this thread...

I don't see this as a competition, as the task ahead is far too enveloping for One Amazing Guy.

It will take hundreds, if not thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, to either dissolve this world/veil, or build something better.

Building software and cities is a huge, collaborative task.

I was spending too much time on GLP anyway.

I will rethink my strategy, and come up again... maybe tonight, or another time.

If you started a site, I'm sure it could cross-pollinate with GLP.

Best wishes,

DZN

Figures I ignored it for a day or two, then when I finally post in it, it gets deleted like 5-10 minutes later.

I was in there for one hour.

It's certain posters, but that thread was a whole roundtable of various folk.

A real Dark-Hipster Fellowship of the Ring.

~O~

Our energy connected. We were bluntly but respectfully calling each other out on our various blindspots.

Then the energy started to cohere, and it felt like we were lifting off.

The EOB Brasil song, which is a blueprint for ascension, really made it more powerful.

That's the Bright-Morning side of the Godlike double-edged sword.

GLP is a true astral Mordor, but if you can retune this etheric node in spacetime, you can make the ripples go out everywhere.

Wow, i've only listened to the start but its like i've busted my top, and i was overwhelmed with energy flowing in and out. so so crazy.
Had to stop and take a breath and process what just happened.
