Think of it.

In the beginning people thought there were many gods. Then the human race evolved its thinking to realize that there must be only one 'God' - because it was 'All' in nature.

Breathe Slowly and Deeply. Listen to all the sounds. You will hear them from far off echoes.
 Slow down. Slow down.

It's a glorified video game that isn't even our real Home. Why are so many willing to F up their Karma/Soul's eternal legacy to try and rule/control it?

We're not really trying to control, build-out, and make this thing bigger.

It's more about grabbing control of the major nodes and setting everything on DISSOLVE.

We're also not trying to control the whole universe, or anything we didn't build. We're merely asserting dominion over a slice of reality that's our home.

Your question is fair. Covetous Muppets there are many.

But every being has the right to set axioms and boundaries over Their Private Universe.
