Re: Do you feel you've outgrown this world?

I feel we need to start taking responsibility for this world considering we have all played our part in creating the conditions we currently are forced to live under. Unfortunately I have found that no one wants to take responsibility, it is always someone elses fault. Couple that with being programmed into expecting an outside savior and you find a recipe for disaster.

Guarantee, if we dont get our shit together and fix this ourselves, we are coming back to the same situation or worse, depending on how much negative karma you have manged to accrue.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 76712472

truth here but that is because they are totally unconscious of being human.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 85008593

Which may very well be a manufactured state. So the opposite can also be manufactured, one just has to begin to consider that they are actually responsible (read not fully) and then go about attaining the knowledge required to facilitate change.

true, but people are trained to defer and transfer blame and not hold ones self accountable for their own faults. a consequence of the self fixation, narcissism that social media makes worse but is in no way limited to.

a 'can do' attitude is very much needed in these times, yet the conveniences we are provided make such a framework of self reliance all but obsolete.

unless there is a conscious and concerted effort made on a cultural level to correct these things it may be deprivation and tragedy which will FORCE people to come back to reality.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 80804854

This is not begun on a cultural level, it is up to the individual. When the individual changes, they can inspire change in others. When enough people change, there will be a cultural paradigm shift.

This is the way the universe works, the micro affecting the macro but we are ignorant and in denial so we continue to get exactly what we put in, which as far as critical mass goes, is wrong. Our morals are skewed by malevolent forces and we completely roll with it. What else could be the end result?

Re: Do you feel you've outgrown this world?

No!

But this world has over-stepped its bounds.

That is man has over-stepped and transgressed God's Law.

It is Luciferian at its core.

The exploitation of every resource, the questioning and rearranging of the natural order and the perversion and subversion of all the goodness that was poured forth for humanity by God's Holy Angels.

Said the Serpent to Eve in the Garden of Eden..."Surely man does not die, but he often becomes other than what he was intended".

It's all so stupid, mundane, and pointless.

Incompetence and evil ubiquitous. Lies. Suffering.

There is literally Nothing that interests me about this world anymore.

I have to stick around with billions of others and eat and piss and shit, to sustain a body I don't want, in a world I hate.

I'm just..disgusted.

I burn in my anger awaiting the destruction of it all.

Nothing new under the sun in the most stupid and disappointing of all possible worlds.

Shit planet full of puke people. I renounce my position in the human wheel of shit. Press the fucking button.

You can not change the culture before changing self, there is too much manufactured moral relativism at work. If you are looking for how the macro affects the micro, you need to look at the bigger picture, how the universe works or God's Law, Karma, Natural Law, Consequentialism, (which are all the same thing essentially) etc. This is found in occult and esoteric teachings and why most people can not find their individual way out, it is intentionally hidden from them and marginalized to be insignificant.

I've been on a Natural Law kick here on this forum recently after a re-introduction and epiphany. I have been pushing parallel structures for many years, even before I knew the term. I came to realize while I was walking closely to the path, I missed some important truths. I came to the realization that our current forms of government are parallel structures of Natural Law and while what I wanted to see in a parallel form of government was very close to Natural Law I have come to the conclusion that we do not need to reinvent the wheel, especially when there are teachers like Mark Passio who have laid an amazing foundation.

If we get morally right with ourselves, we can help others follow a similar path. The culture shift will follow, we will no longer be order takers or enablers of the oppression via voting the oppressor in. Rather we will be the sovereign beings that is our true default state and instead of the condition of slavery that we currently find ourselves in we will be free.

The term for this, which I found just the other day would be synarchy. Internal monarchy or one ruler of self as the micro expression and anarchy or no ruler in the macro expression of society. The micro/macro aspect is explained by the principle of correspondence in the hermetic traditions.

Re: Do you feel you've outgrown this world?

go to the chat here and see how it has descended also into nothing much more than sex /porn discussions and the repetitive mind control there that has been produced by Covid game 19. This world is done and the new has been planned and rather well after the Magnetic reversal.

I release the chat is a small example.. as is GLP also... I have watched the descent here since around 2007 or so.

Its this way on some many boards too.. the lack of thinking.. being able to adjust and reason on an over crowded work of 90% mostly robotoid type humans.. there are 10 billion on this world.. 2.3 billion Christian robotoids for the most part..

about 2 billion in Islam... 1.6 hindu and I don't even know in China et all.

6 billion or more in religions alone. and how many in bad cultures period... and manipulated by the dark shits and politics. Islam and Christianity are the 2 whatever that is called and will never get along.. NEVER.

Buddism isn't strong enough.. but they don't have a sick god complex. add the satanist component that eats kids.. traffics children and women and men.. Yes men too... and all that.. are you eating humans in your hamburger.. something to look at.

covid 19 has basically been a military operation to the world of this really sick satanists.. but it cannot rid the world of it all. While you all bought the covid bullshit.. a lot did get done.. remember Q folks who said you must be shown.. this is the showing.

This world cannot one by one become responsible.. it cannot be done... it is finished ... It is hugely overpopulated and Gaia is going to cleanse. you can count on it. Those not ready to grow up yet will be moved to appropriate other places for their growth who have chosen eternity but are very immature.

and more. there are an estimated 1.5 billion STAY BEHINDS our of 10 billion people who can continue with their god development on this world.

Critical mass is key, you do not need everyone to change, consider the 100th monkey effect. This is what their programming was always for, to reach critical mass, which they probably exceeded their expectations.

The advantage we have over them is truth is self evident, it does not need to be drilled into the masses time and time again. Once the ball gets rolling, nothing will stop it. Consider the effect Q has had on waking people up. I am leery of this movement as they offer more of the same disguised as truth, which obviously much of it is, there are some evil beings running the show. Our government will not fundamentally change and will still be susceptible to corruption if Q is victorious. Nor is this movement actually teaching people how to raise their consciousness because they are doing the work for them playing the role of exterior savior, its a complete set up.

However it does offer a glimpse as to how truth may snowball and affect the greater consciousness of society, Q is a faction vying for critical mass. Consider their slogan the great awakening, this is the good cop vs bad cap scenario we have been subjected to for millennia, nothing new under the sun.

We cannot attain critical mass on this world. It is not possible. This I know and its time to awaken to this end of the age of evil. Evil does NOT critical mass.. there is too much

Re: Do you feel you've outgrown this world?

This is the way the universe works, the micro affecting the macro but we are ignorant and in denial so we continue to get exactly what we put in, which as far as critical mass goes, is wrong. Our morals are skewed by malevolent forces and we completely roll with it. What else could be the end result?

it isn't done any other way except one by one.. and we are part that working with the excess everything. You have billions of people mind controlled by religions and politics on this world and in other ways.. and this cannot be overcome.

The ignorance and lack of real HUMAN mind is appalling.

Critical mass is key, you do not need everyone to change, consider the 100th monkey effect. This is what their programming was always for, to reach critical mass, which they probably exceeded their expectations.

The advantage we have over them is truth is self evident, it does not need to be drilled into the masses time and time again. Once the ball gets rolling, nothing will stop it. Consider the effect Q has had on waking people up. I am leery of this movement as they offer more of the same disguised as truth, which obviously much of it is, there are some evil beings running the show. Our government will not fundamentally change and will still be susceptible to corruption if Q is victorious. Nor is this movement actually teaching people how to raise their consciousness because they are doing the work for them playing the role of exterior savior, its a complete set up.

However it does offer a glimpse as to how truth may snowball and affect the greater consciousness of society, Q is a faction vying for critical mass. Consider their slogan the great awakening, this is the good cop vs bad cap scenario we have been subjected to for millennia, nothing new under the sun.

Then I say to you, you are part of the problem. The time for action is now, always has been, always will be.

I am not part of the problem.. This world is beyond fixing. and it has been changing its vibration and that alone will cause many to die who cannot adapt to it.. This is a cosmic time of Ascension into eternity and most here cannot make the journey... I am not part of the problem because I can SEE...

Re: Do you feel you've outgrown this world?

Relevant thread that was bumped w/o a response, which I have noticed before this. Turns out it is rich with wisdom and an enjoyable short (unfortunately) read.

Maggie, by simply seeing and not acting you are contributing to the oppressors having no opposition. By continually stating there is no hope is a false belief, those who truly see know that there is always hope. We also know that if we fail, we will have learned for the better and put ourselves in a better position for the next go around the merry go round.

What makes you believe the world will wake this year? The past three years have shown me that most of the world is happily asleep.

It will start with unprecedented financial hardship, and will lead to a backlash against the oversaturation of woke/trans/groomer programming in society.
