While what you say is true for all mankind right now, your attitude in singling this person out is not helpful. The normal avenues and systems in this world are being destroyed by design and the more people who do not understand how Jesus is using this time to cause people to turn to Him before it is too late, the more people lose hope.

I know the hope that is coming as Heaven invades earth very soon. Hang on.

Jesus is very close to the depressed, the heartsick, and those that feel hopeless. The tears shed in the dark are readily apparent to God.

What is coming is the worst time in all of human history in the physical realm. But it is the BEST time in all human history for those that follow Jesus in the spiritual realm. The saints will be anointed with the great anointing of the Holy Spirit in all of human history. Their exploits will fulfill Jesus promise of the greater works. For those that are seeking after Jesus, You will find him if you search with your whole heart. If you do not approach Him earnestly, He will not answer you.

God has done miracles in the last 20 years to provide for my wife and I. I have been in the wilderness and Jesus has seen us through for me to testify of His provision and healing. We have had times of want to test our faith but he always came through in the end.

Jesus wants your faith in Him and he wants your life to be turned over to His works. Perhaps people did not understand what it meant in Isa 53 where it says that His life was prolonged in His hand (as in people who do His works).

Forever more . . .

No one cares about this story.

Just another conscious being losing hope.

It happens every second of every day.

All over this planet.

Stand in line.

Wait.

That's some defeatist bullshit.

You are descended from warriors, so start fucking acting like it. And maybe, just maybe, you might live to see the people responsible for the all of the chaos and death in this world be brought to justice.

Who sues their mother?

A man who knows no mother. Or maybe just a sick, mean man.

Go to your mom. Make amends.

You can't even look at God

You would die from His Glory

Read about Moses in the cleft of the rock

And the nicest feeling you can have at home is a good roof and a plasma upstream that stops at the roof and poors a bit down again ?

AC/OP know that your not alone. Push yourself to do something nice for a stranger even it's just a smile or holding a door open. Try to go for a walk somewhere safe. Light exercise will get the endorphins serotonin going. I just want you to know when things seem bleak we have to know that things will be better. Prayers AC
