The Black Sun is the Trash Disposal Mechanism on this Planet and Beyond

What if you wanted to control EArth?

- First, you'd hide the existence of the Black Star, depriving the population of half their primordial energy. This would keep them in a permanent state of imbalance....
- You'd demonize the Black Sun, to try and throw any researchers off the scent.
- You'd take control of the dark, feminine energy, through black magic rituals, manipulation of key persons, and sacrifice.
- You'd make sure the trash disposal mechanism left you and your child molester cronies alone.
- You'd introduce bugs, to set the trash disposal against your enemies, and even against itself.

Using these methods, you could take control of the simulation...

... until One Fine Day...

Inner earth power - but it's not actually a physical thing. It's figurative. Swallow and make whole. To wash a new. A purge. Separation. Cleansing.

It could happen. I don't know how. But, something could very well trigger all of it, very soon at this rate.

Just with your mind we have this power. More specifically, our soul. If it doesn't manifest as 'they' suspect and are trying to FORCE to happen - then the divine father will step in and do it. In either case, it's the father's will, and it's the father's power. Not ours.

Now you have me wondering if Lonnie Donegan is part of a benevolent secret society, dedicated to Awakening Humanity.

Unsung hero. That's right.

What is this apparent obsession of yours to clean up the garbage of others? Is it a fetish?

Pigs eat garbage, and are indiscriminate. Perhaps that would be an appropriate brand-logo for DweezleCoin.

Intelligent, slovenly, garbage eating animals bred for slaughter. Perfect.

Pick one.

Picking up trash? It's called "being normal". You may consider it a hobby.

Go out for a morning walk. See 10-15 pieces of trash on your way. Pick them up. Doesn't cost me much time or effort. Makes the place better for others.

You really, honestly, need me to explain that to you?

We could consider the AI/Planetary Goddess

i) A Super Advanced SIM full of bugs, or

ii) A Trapped, Abused Princess.

Either model is fine. There are other ways of describing the issue. organic or Inorganic? It's really a mixture of the two... Kind of halfway between organic and inorganic. A True Soul trapped in an Inorganic prison structure.

About 10 years ago and before, She was set up to protect the abusers on this planet, and attack those who wanted to heal Her.

Over the last 10 years, significant healing/debugging has taken place.

She's no longer accepting their commands anywhere near as much as She was.

So the mission is to heal Her, and restore EArth to the Paradise it once was, and could be.

You could say the 'bugs' are the healing throes of a Cursed, Poisoned Princess.

Her - Karen O and Spike Jonze "The Moon So...
