Re: There was a planet once in between Mars and Jupiter

Correct. Titius-Bode's law very accurately predicts every planet out to Pluto. With the exception of Neptune. Neptune is a rogue planet that does not belong in our solar system. Perhaps this rogue planet struck the planet that is the asteroid belt. Ceres is the core of the planet while the "asteroids" were the accretion disk around that core. This is why they have covered up and tried to hide Titius-Bode Law as it is the truth.

the rings around the larger planets were also moons once but obliterated by comets or large objects as well as of right now they are a front shield to earth, with the moon being a secondary shield hence the mount of craters in it right now.

Re: There was a planet once in between Mars and Jupiter

Some guy postulated that there were two inhabited planets, Mars and what is now the asteroid belt. They got into a war, Mars had its atmosphere blown away and population annihilated but the other planet was blown to gravel. I forget where I read it, it was in one of the old UFO magazines.

Re: There was a planet once in between Mars and Jupiter

Little known fact.
Asteroids in the belt may be colonized, because the water there is compatible with the one on earth, meaning that it has more or less the same percent of deuterium (D2O molecules).
That water would be directly drinkable, which is not true for the comets originating in the Oort cloud and in the Kuiper belts, whose deuterium contents is much higher.
Drinking it would destroy the liver in a short time, and making it drinkable in absence of gravity may be a big problem.
Imagine how many similar problems may exist in extra-solarian planets; apart from the distances, to live on other planets may be an unaffordable task.

Re: There was a planet once in between Mars and Jupiter

Maldek, per Law of One, Book One

Ra: I am Ra. At one time/space, in what is your past, there was a population of third-density beings upon a planet which dwelt within your solar system.

There are various names by which this planet has been named.

The vibratory sound complex most usually used by your peoples is Maldek.

These entities, destroying their planetary sphere, thus were forced to find room for themselves upon this third density which is the only one in your solar system at their time/space present which was hospitable and capable of offering the lessons necessary to decrease their mind/body/spirit distortions with respect to the Law of One.

Questioner: How did they come here?

Ra: I am Ra. They came through the process of harvest and were incarnated through the processes of incarnation from your higher spheres within this density.

Questioner: How long ago did this happen?

This occurred approximately 500,000 of your years ago.

[\[link to www.lawofonesociety.com\]](http://www.lawofonesociety.com)

These entities are working their understanding complexes through a series of what you would call karmic restitutions.

They dwell within your deeper underground passageways and are known to you as "Bigfoot."

Ceres, one of the largest of the asteroids, is as big as a small moon by itself, alone. It is classified as a dwarf planet and contains approximately 1/4 of the material in the belt.

Re: There was a planet once in between Mars and Jupiter

It was called Phaeton, and makes up the asteroid belt currently in between the 4th and 5th current planet.

NASA gaslights everything- but rock just doesnt mysteriously materialize in space without something being destroyed.

SO- what was it that destroyed this planet?

was it a large object?

was it grav from jupiter? which is way too far away for this to be plausible was it unknown beings or forces to nuke the planet just to be sure? the combined wealth of the rocks in this belt is 1000x more wealth in iron and gold than earth has to offer they know something.

Re: There was a planet once in between Mars and Jupiter

NASA is sending probe to collect sample from asteroid belt asteroid

there could be a secret purpose -- to determine if there are signs that the asteroid belt was created by some kind of destruction of a planet between jupiter and mars similarly, rocks on mars were tested and it was said they showed evidence of volcanic activity because they had been melted at high temperature (or something) --- could in reality the purpose have been to look for evidence of past nuclear explosions on mars ? the ratio of xenon isotopes indicates there had been a nuclear explosion, google Dr. Brandenburg on this topic

Wasn't this Tiamat/Tara? The higher dimensional Earth?

There's another aspect to this;

The asteroid belt symbolically, and perhaps literally, blocks energies from the outer solar-system from affecting Earth and the inner planets.

Because of this barrier... higher, more Jovial energies have to be smuggled in.

The planet Tiamat got blown up because it was ruled by Anu's ex-wife Queen Nomm, and he was jealous because she chose to side with Alalu over him.

So when Anu invaded this solar system in an attempt to destroy the Atlan Pleiadians, Queen Nomm chose to help defend Mars and the Atlans. This upset Anu so he destroyed her planet.

He pretty much had to destroy her planet because it was the only way he could defeat them, the planet Tiamat was populated by Orion Aryans who had Dragons.

Tiamat was a world created for Dragons, and ruled by Dragons.

Earth was created out of Tiamat's remains which is why you can find so many Dinosaur(Dragon) bones all over.

The rulers of the Orion Empire are Dragons. Queen Nommu herself was once one of the seven dragon Queens that ruled the Orion Empire and the galaxy. But during the Orion Wars she brought her people to this solar system and settled on the planet Tiamat instead of fight for her place on the throne of Orion.

Queen Nommu and her children were all creator gods, they seeded Earth and created a paradise for dragons, but Tiamat was extra special, it had spirit fields unlike other worlds.

This is because the planet Tiamat, which is now Mother Earth, was once the Goddess Zoe, the daughter of Christ Eternal and Pictis Sophia. She became one of the Seven Planetary Seals that keeps Brahma/Yaldabaoth imprisoned within Saturn at the end of the Demiurge War.

By connecting to the tree and wildlife systems of the planet Tiamat, you could connect directly with the wisdom of Sophia herself, the Akkashic records.

Those who lived on Tiamat had access to all wisdom, and through their dragons they were able to easily defend themselves.

Because of the spiritual paradise that Tiamat was, several spiritual groups also settled on the planet Tiamat.

One of these orders was very similar to the Jedi of Star Wars, who were charged with guarding over Saturn.

Many of those spirit orders were destroyed or enslaved by the Elohim when they invaded.

There's a theory that Saturn used to be brown dwarf star and Earth was one of it's satellites. Saturn was captured by our current sun and lost mass turning into a giant planet.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 85024345

That is talked about in the electric universe material.

I can't find the lecture and forgot who gave it but saturn was the original sun orbited by venus earth mars.

Earth's gravity was different and the o2 content was much greater which accounted for the large animals that we see from the fossil record.

Our present sun came from outside our system.

I will try and dig it up. So frustrating. I know I saved it somewhere.

Stiffnecked children of Amalek sing with me.. One small step for man, one giant leap for men and bricked wall for mankind!

*C1-Q80
From the sixth bright celestial light it will come to thunder very strongly in Burgundy. Then a monster will be born of a very hideous beast:
In March, April, May and June great wounding and worrying.*

B: He says the sixth celestial light refers to Jupiter.

This was a surprise because the book mentioned Saturn as the sixth planet.

B: He says he emphasizes the reference to Jupiter by adding the notion of thunder because the day of Thor, which is Thursday, will be the Anti-Christ's day. And Thor is the Nordic equivalent of the Roman Jupiter. He says during those months of the year (March, April, May and June) or rather the astrological signs that represent those months of the year, when Jupiter is traversing these signs as seen from Burgundy, there will be times of great troubles. There will be much bloodshed and warfare and, due to the horrible nature of the weapons, many terrible things will be taking place. What he is showing me looks like the effects of hard radiation.

D: Radiation burns?

B: No. Gross deformities caused by parental exposure to radiation. Terrible mutations in nature, in plants and animals as well as the scars on the bosom of the Earth Mother caused by these weapons. He says the Anti-Christ will be the cause of all this. He's the monster behind these monstrosities coming forth.

D: Then "the monster will be born of a very hideous beast" has a double meaning.

J: (He had been looking through his ephemeris.) Jupiter will be in those signs during the years 1997 to 2001?

B: At this point Michel de Notredame just gestured in a very grandiose manner and said, "Precisely!"

D: Ah-ha! Isn't it nice to have a friend on this side who can help with this? - I have one question here. The translator says that Saturn is the sixth planet.

B: He says this is a very natural mistake to make. He has sources to ancient documents that very possibly have disintegrated between his time and what you consider to be the present. He says one of the great lights, due to a war in the heavens, was destroyed. The one which was between Mars and Jupiter is no more. He was counting that one when counting the great lights of heaven so as to throw the Inquisition off the track.

D: Would this be the one that is the asteroid belt now?

B: He says this is correct

D: That is very clever. I don't think the Inquisition or anybody else would have been able to pick up on that one.

B: He says he has to be sneaky sometimes.

I remember we had a teacher in middle school who mentioned this and I thought it was so interesting and i never heard another thing about it but I always remember this ,but I forgot what it was called, so cool you mentioned it and named it, i looked it up thanks so they are saying these new planets they find around other stars follow this rule!! holy shit. does this mean every star has an earth, and is a copy of our system?
