He should be glad, he is not like everyone else.

The perverts in the white house can think they can use him, but they never will.

Re: The most striking thing about the Anomaly is his sadness

3) He is despised and rejected of men, a Man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief. And we hid as it were our faces from Him; He was despised, and we esteemed Him not. 4) Surely He hath borne our griefs and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. 5) But He was wounded for our transgressions; He was bruised for our iniquities. The chastisement of our peace was upon Him, and with His stripes we are healed.

6) All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all.

He feels the pain of the world and everyone in it.

We live in a dark age where evil rules.

Sometimes it becomes unbearable to handle the reality of everything. His demeanor becomes grim and silent.

He feels helpless because he knows there's only so much he can do.

He has the answers but he can't force people to listen to him.

He has already tried, and he can deliver the message better than anyone else, but it was a fruitless endeavour. All they do is laugh and mock him, or even worse, threaten him.

The masses are too indoctrinated. As time goes on society will continue falling apart and everyone will suffer more and more.

That will lead to some people finally waking up to the hellish reality we're facing.

But that's the thing, people need to do it on their own. Nobody can force them to see it.

So the Anomaly will wait for the day when society is more receptive to his message. He knows things will get a lot worse before that happens though, and it makes him sad.

If he was real...and the world was spying on him...how would you feel if no one had the stones to tell you to your face?

Would he love you or hate you for that do you think?

How much would you all owe him for spying on him all those years?

It is a breach of Law. How many Judges and leaders or nations would have to go to jail for not stopping a clear crime against a person?

All of them as they would be wilful accessories to the crime.

Who could claim to love a person, but not tell them what was going on?

Re: The most striking thing about the Anomaly is his sadness

My aim and my summons in this national emergency is to bring under control all the forces of subversion and their bases of operations(or to neutralize the attack potential of the external enemy.) So let everyone who will join and make common cause with me be prepared to pay the price
. He will make sacrifices but he will see me do no less myself. There will be drastic changes in our standard of living, but he must stand fast with me despite economic recession and rationing; there will be less to eat, few new clothes to wear, and a general shortage of consumer goods. He must, indeed, stand fast with me though it cost blood, sweat, and tears; there will be sleepless nights and other hardships not now anticipated. But when we win, and win we shall, each one will share with me the blessings of success for every risk and every venture undertaken and for his comradeship in every effort made and every suffering endured.

Revelation 20- 3

20 And I saw an angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand.

2 And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years,

3 And cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled: and after that he must be loosed a little season.

Re: The most striking thing about the Anomaly is his sadness

In the case of those who commit serious sin easily and pile sin upon sin the frequent, almost usual, tactic of our enemy is to tantalize them with the prospect of illicit sexual pleasure and with other pleasures of the senses in order to keep them full of sins and continually adding to their sinful record. On the other hand, the function of any agency of divine guidance is to keep troubling their conscience and to deter them from sin through syneresis and the judgement of reason

The third point use to consider what response loyal citizens should make to a chief of state so dedicated to their freedom, and how quickly they should volunteer for let everyone who will go there with Me know that he must venture hardship with Me. But let him also know there will be recompense for every effort made and every distress endured (95)

Re: The most striking thing about the Anomaly is his sadness

Relatively based, OP.

It's no easy task to see the ugliness in the world, in individuals, to behold their ignorant and blissful love of death and materialism, to be aware of their worship of evil disguised as good and foolishness disguised as wisdom. Can't force someone to break through layers upon layers of indoctrination when approaching truth means to destroy the very foundation of "everything we think we know" and ever layer of personal identity attached to it.

The common paradigms and modalities are entirely cancerous and necrotic, they destroy everything they touch. What does one do then when a society of blind leading blind teaching and preaching blindness for the sake of blindness decide they love the known comfort of their disease more than the possibility of working to become anything greater than a mere meatsack full of worldly lusts and desires?

There is only one distinct separation in today's world. There are Living Souls drawing ever closer to the very source of Life that is in them, and there are carnal beasts fully in love with the entropy of the flesh and its gratification. The Spiritual Mind and the Beastly mind are very real and prominent realities. Sadly, far too many are happy and content to remain mere beasts...

how did humans evolve? they began using their hands. and carrying out complex tasks, and foreseeing future threats to their existence. these ape like creatures obviously developed a fantastic advantage and came to dominate all life forms.

they evolved by learning to 'work'. but in reality all living things create themselves, why don't all animals have hands? why don't birds have hands? why don't horses have 5 fingered hands?

raccoons and squirrels have little hands just like a human being why don't they build boats?

actually squirrels can construct very cool little houses, they will take mushrooms and cut them into strips and hang them in their nest , to eat them later, they are far more intelligent than you think. how did they learn to think? much of it is 'instinct'. why is the word 'stink' in instict? hmm? think about it.

The Story of B.

A personal favorite book of the A.

The Story of B is presented as a diary of the American first-person narrator and protagonist, Fr. Jared Osborne, a Roman Catholic priest of the (fictitious) Laurentian order. The Laurentians have traditionally made it their duty to be the first group to recognize the Antichrist. With this mission in mind, an esteemed member of the order, Fr. Bernard Lulfre, personally tasks Jared with investigating an itinerant American lecturer, Charles Atterley, who has gained notable attention in Europe and whose ideas the Laurentians consider a potential danger to humankind. Although told that Atterley was last spotted in Austria, Jared is initially unable to track down the enigmatic preacher.
