The original god-like design had two hearts

I think the real problem with this planet isnt mental anymore... it is emotional. Basically that the human body only has one heart... the "True original body" had two... A totally different emotional system.

The true original body is stronger at least in terms of feeling others and feeling things... stronger in terms of caring for others and understanding things emotionally.

The entities that rule us, want everyone to BE the same or BECOME the same... like people can fluctuate in terms of WHO or WHAT they are... but then everyone loses their identity. Programmable people and programmable feelings. Thats their solution to "make up" for the fact that humans only have one heart.

We're gonna need some real magical skills to make up for this deficit

"Without feeling, what use are ideas?" thats probably the real issue that people "can't understand me". There might be a simple solution due to the fact that this place is made for NPCs and the NPCs have a "mirror" version of themselves... a world where everything is wonderful and nice. Perhaps the two of them could be used together like to make up for "both sides" of the original thing... both hearts. NPC side for the left heart and "good version of human" for the right-heart.

Humanity is mentally developed enough to progress... it's our lack of emotional development that is holding us back... but our bodies can't hold the strength of love that's needed. Even mine... Not without some serious magical skills

Humanity can't handle the fact that I hated evil people and had to hate evil people in order to progress... they can't handle those feelings or reality. its a problem for them.

Anything to strengthen the heart right now is a good thing... herbs or therapies.

Re: The original god-like design had two hearts

There is another "Version of Earth" that exists where nature is perfect... humans exist there but everyone is nice. Much less people but also the people there are in tune with nature.

They even have farms but their farms operate on different principles. Not mega-farms but more pastoral-like. they even keep (strangely enough!!!) dangerous animals in their farms, like lions or crocodiles, gorillas... able to reach their cows and sheep!

I guess the idea is to let the animals "not devolve" and keep their original strength. So their cows just have a lot more space to roam and avoid danger if they want to live. It is a strange system. Keeping the danger alive.

But it works.

No shitty mega-cities or large-cities. Nature almost everywhere except for their farms or houses embedded in nature.

The people there even LOOK like earth humans. You can find "clones" of many people from Earth on that planet, except they are nice and do good things and are fun.

That is the "opposite of NPC" world I am talking about.

Re: The original god-like design had two hearts

Interesting -

Two of hearts. Where is our other located?

Re: The original god-like design had two hearts

Pretty interest OP. Tallies with many things I heard.

Is this the Land of The Black Sun...?

Do you get there by "drifting right" to the other hemisphere?

I think the aim is to unite the timelines, right?

Many ideas here.

Good thread.
