Re: Many people are now having dreams of not going to make it to Heaven

There is no "other" you talk of. There is only God and God's emanations. If you choose to close your heart and say "fine, die" you are doing no service to your Self or "other people."

One day, I hope you will see the truth of this message and the fake illusion you serve. I do agree with you, this illusion is not fine because of the immense suffering and pain this world goes through. While I am blessed and no longer have to struggle with the daily struggles many do, I do not turn a blind eye to the suffering of all "people" as well as all life on this planet.

I would bet you are living better through your known "truth" because it makes you feel better to push this fear fact and it bolsters your ego. How is believing you know that some "people" are going to Hell or eternal suffering making you live a better life? That is a evil darkness that has rooted in your heart, and you mistake it for light.

You live in your "truth" of separation. We are all One, beyond body, beyond mind, beyond any identification. One day I hope you will see this truth of our interconnectedness. All is from love, all is from goodness, and to that we will return. You do yourself and no one else any favors with your message, your beliefs, and your lies.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 80555702

I depend on the truth to exist here. To deny the truth that i bring is to deny me. Then people dont know me and i cannot have anything here.

Day by day this truth that i bring will root deeper into the hearts of people because its the truth that exist in Heaven and Hell. And one day we will have it in the physical world aswell. What i talk about is no illusion.

Maybe we do agree on something...Do you agree that God knows better than you and me? If so, lets have this debate in front of God with God as the judge. I'm sure that if we agree that God knows best then we will come to an agreement of how reality really is.

That being said, i am bringing Heaven to Earth because i bring the fight to God. If you dont want to involve God in this then its you who wants to shape the world as ""You"" want it.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 79556534

If you deny yourself when you believe that others have to suffer eternally to be "you," I want nothing to do with you or your perverse ways. Your own internal hellish state of mind and ego is apparent, and that explains the feeling of corruption when I communicate to you. I bet it does not feel good to be you.

If "people don't know me" means you cannot have anything here, then that comes off like a very narcissistic and parasitic concept. You come off as diva wanting all the attention on you. How well do you know "others"? If you do not care to know others, and are content and happy to live in your believed truth of eternal suffering, and you want all eyes on you - What does that make you? Look at yourself and tell me that you stand for love and goodness?

Day by day, if your supposed truth looks like it is coming to fruition then you are drinking poison of your own making with your mentality and attitude.

I do agree the inner Guru, God knows best. God is beyond the mind, the ego, beyond thoughts, beyond definition and word. That is why I have faith that all will be well for all, no matter what. God is the center of our heart, our light, and our Self. I have faith the God in All will shine forth and this Earth/reality will be changed. You want to bring "Heaven" on Earth here? Have you walked or been outside these realms? There are realms and universes and ways of expanded consciousness beyond this existence. It makes this existence feel like a flattened piece of dirt to come back to this place from the more expanded worlds. Words cannot describe those means of existence.

I know enough to say this universe is not from where my awareness and consciousness comes, this place is flat, constricted, and I hope every being in here finds freedom, love, and the Guru, God, Heaven, and our Self within. Your words, your message of external separation are lies that sound like it comes straight from Satan. I hope you find the truth within you and see your connectedness of all beings, and then change your mindset. It is beyond the ego, beyond the seeming physical separation from one another. We are all one. What you wish, what you hope, what you think upon others you do to yourself.

It sounds like you are involving your own ego and deception (self?) in your beliefs and ideas. There is something that is going on, and that is the end of corruption and end of fear, pain, suffering, and beginning of a new time of love, joy and bliss. Your messages hold no weight, and are hollow. I do not accept the offerings you are making.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 80555702

You think you can go to Heaven if you dont respect me? If people in Heaven dont respect me then how can Heaven be Heaven to me?

We all have to be aligned with each other. And that is exactly what happens at judgement day. Everyone will be put in their place in divine order. Justice.

How do you intent to go to Heaven with your perspective of me? Do tell.

I already know the answer.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 79556534

Who is this "you" that you are referring to yourself as? I respect the Self in you, as it is the same as the Self in me. What I do not have respect, nor will I bow down to in deference is the ego and mind that you have not mastered. I do not have respect for the thing that makes you believe in order for you to be you and happy, it needs beings in eternal suffering for you to be happy.

What your Heaven demonstrates is a hellish state of mind and ego that screams for recognition and praise and attention. Yet you turn a blind eye to the suffering that you believe will befall on many beings because they do not recognize you.

I have asked you many questions, and you respond to none of them but double down on your poison of self importance and exclusion of spirit but worship of your own ego.

I do not think you know many answers beyond what your deluded mind is tricking you into believing. Don't believe all the messages that are being sent to you that you think are your thoughts or messages from divine inspiration. Some of them do not have your best intentions in mind.

What you say is my perspective of "you" is an illusion that "you" have not been able to see past. I truly hope that you can see what you think of as you is not you, the ego. Once you can start seeing yourself in all beings, all events, all happenings, then perhaps you can change your view on needing beings to be in eternal suffering as your truth.

Your truth is an illusion and lie. I want nothing to do with your supposed truth, your supposed Heaven where you need all to know "you" and your need for others to be in eternal suffering for you to be happy. You sound like you are influenced by your own personal demons, and instead of fighting them you have embraced them.

Peace be with you. I hope you find the true light within yourself.

If that is the truth than it makes alot of sense to me.

Up in Heaven everyone wants you to live so you go up. But once you are up there you no longer want to be there because of what i said in the OP.

In this closed evil systemthe astral dimension is fawned over as 'heaven', alas it is part of the evil charade.

The good news is it's all coming to a conclusion in this 'the last generation' before complete dismantling and destruction.

Very few have made the cut to 'viable' and relocation of consciousness to the Divine Realms.

Yes. Have you seen The Good Place?

What if there were many heavens?

To an Earther, anywhere with significantly better medicine, nature, economy and kinder people is going to be 'heaven'.

Im sure a Happy-Hobo in Sacramento could care less if he goes to a beach-house in LA, an apartment in NYC, or a ranch in the Purple Kentucky Hills.

It's all good.

With a one heaven system, you have to grovel to petty and demeaning, self-appointed 'Gods'.

In a multi-heaven system, you can work on yourself, and no prick-in-a -beard can gatekeep.

That is what they're terrified of.

Regarding 'viable', it's not a binary. yes/no affair. There are degrees. We could make bridges and staircases... ONLY if most agreed it was safe.

I do not need to argue with you, as your concept of Heaven, "identity," and your blindness to your own narcissism, hellish and egotistical way of thinking is not known to you yet. It is a waste of my time and I am exposing myself to the filth you generate with your thoughts and ideas every time I interact with you. What identity do you think will die if I am not prostrating myself to your ego and delusions? I already have no identity, and need no external validation to know what I am or to define me.

The fact that you still compare beings using sizes in some type of relative way means you have missed the mark. Do you understand that God is in everything, big or small. Big or small has nothing to do with any of us, and if that is your default way of thinking, then you are still in an ego trap even if you do not realize it yet. That you believe I have an aversion to Heaven because I am afraid of being "small" is once again, delusional thinking that highlights your narcissism.

What I am, behind this ego, behind this body, behind this mind, is what allows you to even be cognizant. What you are behind your large mask of hellish ego that you cannot even notice, is the same as "me." I need no identity, and claim no identity that is based on this physical existence.

"I" have already left this world of existence, where I was connected to the much higher and larger aspect of consciousness and limitless possibilities of goodness and peace; I chose to come back here to finish up matters. What you think of as Heaven, size, relations based on others is a binding, hellish state of mind and being. You are right, that is not where I will be going. I hope that we all transcend that. Your method of thinking is perverse, full of hierarchy, full of ego, and is filthy.

My message is lost on you. I do not accept your message and offers. You can keep them. If you would like to, answer this question - to whom does an offering belong if it is refused? Then think about what you are offering to others, the spirit and energy behind them. It is not from love, not from goodness, and that tells me enough to know whom you are deceived by, and whom you are offering your spirit to. It is not from God, I can tell you that.

The fact that you still compare beings using sizes in some type of relative way means you have missed the mark. Do you understand that God is in everything, big or small. Big or small has nothing to do with any of us, and if that is your default way of thinking, then you are still in an ego trap even if you do not realize it yet. That you believe I have an aversion to Heaven because I am afraid of being "small" is once again, delusional thinking that highlights your narcissism.

What I am, behind this ego, behind this body, behind this mind, is what allows you to even be cognizant. What you are behind your large mask of hellish ego that you cannot even notice, is the same as "me." I need no identity, and claim no identity that is based on this physical existence.

"I" have already left this world of existence, where I was connected to the much higher and larger aspect of consciousness and limitless possibilities of goodness and peace; I chose to come back here to finish up matters. What you think of as Heaven, size, relations based on others is a binding, hellish state of mind and being. You are right, that is not where I will be going. I hope that we all transcend that. Your method of thinking is perverse, full of hierarchy, full of ego, and is filthy.

My message is lost on you. I do not accept your message and offers. You can keep them. If you would like to, answer this question - to whom does an offering belong if it is refused? Then think about what you are offering to others, the spirit and energy behind them. It is not from love, not from goodness, and that tells me enough to know whom you are deceived by, and whom you are offering your spirit to. It is not from God, I can tell you that.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 80555702

If an offering is refused it belongs to the one that offered it. So yes, if I offer you death and you reject it then death belongs to me.

I think that you don't know much about big and small in Heaven. Because you believe everyone is a sinner right? everyone needs forgiveness to make it to Heaven, and everyone is a child in God's eyes.

I'm sure you think you are humble because you can admit to some of those things, but it is only because everyone else is a child as well according to you right? You never had to feel small compared to others because everyone else is a child as well. That is an ego thing people are used to.

But reality is very different. I am an adult in God's eyes and if children treat me like I am a child like the rest then that's a no-go. Not possible in Heaven. And in this thread I am telling people about it.

I am throwing the ego argument right back at you. Because you are a child compared to me and don't want to be humble and accept that. I have already seen you in the spirit and I believe good things will come of this conversation we are having. Truth and justice. But for you that is a downhill spiral until you hit your grave.

Or you can let go of your ego and accept that you are a child compared to me. Of course you will have to look at things from a Heavenly perspective...

Who is this "you" that you are referring to yourself as? I respect the Self in you, as it is the same as the Self in me. What I do not have respect, nor will I bow down to in deference is the ego and mind that you have not mastered. I do not have respect for the thing that makes you believe in order for you to be you and happy, it needs beings in eternal suffering for you to be happy.

What your Heaven demonstrates is a hellish state of mind and ego that screams for recognition and praise and attention. Yet you turn a blind eye to the suffering that you believe will befall on many beings because they do not recognize you.

I have asked you many questions, and you respond to none of them but double down on your poison of self importance and exclusion of spirit but worship of your own ego.

I do not think you know many answers beyond what your deluded mind is tricking you into believing. Don't believe all the messages that are being sent to you that you think are your thoughts or messages from divine inspiration. Some of them do not have your best intentions in mind.

What you say is my perspective of "you" is an illusion that "you" have not been able to see past. I truly hope that you can see what you think of as you is not you, the ego. Once you can start seeing yourself in all beings, all events, all happenings, then perhaps you can change your view on needing beings to be in eternal suffering as your truth.

Your truth is an illusion and lie. I want nothing to do with your supposed truth, your supposed Heaven where you need all to know "you" and your need for others to be in eternal suffering for you to be happy. You sound like you are influenced by your own personal demons, and instead of fighting them you have embraced them.

Peace be with you. I hope you find the true light within yourself.

Another thing we may agree on..."we cannot both be right". Which means one of us is not aligned with God's truth.

You want nothing to do with my truth? Then i know you wont make it to Heaven.

I have answered your questions just fine. But most of what you said are not questions.

And also, i know what you are going through to some degree in your dreams at night. I know you are lying to yourself to go around the truth that you have to experience every night. I know you are holding on to "power", the power to put up an argument. This power that you hold on to is not possible to have that in Heaven for you. It will kill your identity if you dont have it and thats why you dont want to go to Heaven.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 79556534

is refused? The dreams I experience at night are only getting better. So if you know that, then you are on the right track. I do not need to argue with you, as your concept of Heaven, "identity," and your blindness to your own narcissism, hellish and egotistical way of thinking is not known to you yet. It is a waste of my time and I am exposing myself to the filth you generate with your thoughts and ideas every time I interact with you. What identity do you think will die if I am not prostrating myself to your ego and delusions? I already have no identity, and need no external validation to know what I am or to define me.

AQ: 80555702 i know you want nothing to do with the truth in Heaven because you dont want to know how small you are compared to me, (yes i can know that).

I am not lying or bolstering my ego, this is simply the truth that everyone HAS to live/exist with because it is God's truth. And in your dreams you have already rejected it.

We will see each other again, but not in the way you desire it. Who and what you serve is quickly drawing to a close. What you offer is arrogance, judgement, lies, negativity, egotistical desire for recognition, and filth. It belongs to "you" because I do not buy it or accept it. The false sense of identity that you attach to and try to bend your delusion on others is quickly breaking apart.

Trying to talk to you is a waste of effort. I hope that you change your mindset, you are only hurting yourself the way you are.

It is obvious to me that you are an emotional vampire, trying to keep things going the way they have in the various realms of existence. How does one get along with others when we recognize we are from the same Spirit? If you do not know how to treat others well, that is on you. Who we are in our heart is God. What you promote is separation from the Oneness that we all are and never separated from.

Your kind and message of separation is coming to an end. I am through talking to you, as it is apparent you serve darkness, are in darkness, and do not care about the darkness you are in. I have felt your fear, your panic, your anxiety at the thought of losing attention. You will get no more of mine, as your ideas and your type of reality is not real and never will be real.

There is no adult, there is no child. There is spirit, there is consciousness, it is ineffable. It is what we are, beyond identity. It is joy, it is bliss. The thing you serve is in desperate fear of losing the joy and bliss it has parasitically leeches off for so long. It's time is coming to an end, there is no fear in my heart, there is no worry in my mind. You call others a child compared to you, but it is too apparent what you are and who you serve now.

No more words need to be said between us.

Re: Many people are now having dreams of not going to make it to Heaven

To the people who are baited to go on this thread.

OP, and who OP serves and the forces behind OP are trying to subvert your heart, subvert your mind and beliefs and thoughts to create a system of "Heaven" where it is ruled by ego, control, and differences.

The lack of heart the OP has for others is apparent, and it and what OP serves sustains itself with is your own heart, by trying to consume and control the light within you that is God.

I hope anyone reading this can ignore the OP's message, and hope that OP will one day see the poison that it is drinking voluntarily.

Their system is coming to an end. We all are from God. God is our Self, our inner guru, our light within our heart. OP and what OP serves is running out of this light, and senses it's time is coming to a close and is trying to make you lose heart and hope, so that your light may be leached off by it.

Don't buy into this message. It is false.

What I am, and what I am aligned with is not in any downward spiral, what I am is not going to end up in a "grave" because it cannot die. It is lasting, and does not need to say I am a child compared to anything. I care for no comparison.

I am not a child, I am not an adult. I am not a man. I am not a woman. I am not this, not that. I know I just am. I do not need anything else to compare to. I do not need any "one" else to compare to. You are me. I am you. You have not realized this, and put yourself above "others" thinking of your own self importance.

We will see each other again, but not in the way you desire it. Who and what you serve is quickly drawing to a close. What you offer is arrogance, judgement, lies, negativity, egotistical desire for recognition, and filth. It belongs to "you" because I do not buy it or accept it. The false sense of identity that you attach to and try to bend your delusion on others is quickly breaking apart.

Trying to talk to you is a waste of effort. I hope that you change your mindset, you are only hurting yourself the way you are.

Its obvious to me that you have those beliefs because your higher self knows that there is no possible way you will make it to Heaven so you come up with those ideas to give yourself hope and wont fall into despair.

+ with those kind of beliefs how are you going to get along with others? the answer is you dont. No respect for others and no self responsibility because you are me and i am you right?

The child/adult i am talking about is who we are in our hearts, its to do with maturity.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 79556534

It is obvious to me that you are an emotional vampire, trying to keep things going the way they have in the various realms of existence. How does one get along with others when we recognize we are from the same Spirit? If you do not know how to treat others well, that is on you. Who we are in our heart is God. What you promote is separation from the Oneness that we all are and never separated from.

Your kind and message of separation is coming to an end. I am through talking to you, as it is apparent you serve darkness, are in darkness, and do not care about the darkness you are in. I have felt your fear, your panic, your anxiety at the thought of losing attention. You will get no more of mine, as your ideas and your type of reality is not real and never will be real.

There is no adult, there is no child. There is spirit, there is consciousness, it is ineffable. It is what we are, beyond identity. It is joy, it is bliss. The thing you serve is in desperate fear of losing the joy and bliss it has parasitically leached off for so long. It's time is coming to an end, there is no fear in my heart, there is no worry in my mind. You call others a child compared to you, but it is too apparent what you are and who you serve now.

No more words need to be said between us.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 80555702

I am an adult to God for a reason, its because of my maturity and that includes of how good i am to others.

How can you even live with yourself like that, saying things like feeling my fear and panic of the thought of losing attention. Because ofcourse its not true, yet you say it. If you want to say the opposite of me simply because you want to be the opposite of me then say it.

You want to go low because i am high, right?

Re: Many people are now having dreams of not going to make it to Heaven

AQ: 80555702 i know you want nothing to do with the truth in Heaven because you dont want to know how small you are compared to me, (yes i can know that).

I am not lying or bolstering my ego, this is simply the truth that everyone HAS to live/exist with because it is God's truth. And in your dreams you have already rejected it.

Who is this child, this adult you are talking about? Where is it? I do not see anyone as a child, as an adult, as a sinner. And no, according to me not everyone one is a sinner. What we all are is pure, beyond sin, beyond "me," "you," "they," "them," "yours," "mine." There is the Self, there is God. If you cannot accept that what we are is pure at our core, is goodness and love at the heart of every being, then it is once again readily apparent why you have delusions and are in your narcissistic fantasy. What I am, and what I am aligned with is not in any downward spiral, what I am is not going to end up in a "grave" because it cannot die.
