But can they understand what to do with the information?

Resolutions where everyone gets what they want are still available. It is not too late.

They do, you allow it.

No one has power over you that you did not give them.

They keep doing it because the people who claim to be good won't lift a finger against them. Thus you are ruled because you won't stop them yourself.

Why demand someone else does your dirty work for you that you wouldn't do yourself?

Nature and Earth backs the Winner and doesn't care how it won, just that it did. They deserve to rule those who won't lift a finger to stop them.

If you don't like it stop them or leave this reality.

No one else is going to do it for you when they think you don't deserve it. Nature takes the weak and rewards the strong.

You don't get strong by going along with things, resistance makes you strong.

They are trying to teach you to be strong.

They wouldn't see that person as a good person. Taking down the system they are dependent on... most of them would starve. It's not feasible until most people choose true independence and that starts at home with perma-culture gardens/orchards/chicken coops/water wells. As well as knowledge of how to take care of as many necessities at a local level as is possible.

Good to hear others say this. I saw a conflict resolution model today. You had to write down what you did to cause the mess. Not the other guy, yourself.

It made me think about my hand in this.

It's all about energy for them. At the risk of sounding high-handed, Logic and Ethics don't register much with a lot of them. Once the energy drops below a certain point, they'll start acting nice. Kind of creepy, but that's life.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 80209287

Yes they do believe that. I've seen nearly zero acknowledgment of equality with a local adept who kind of serves as a bridge between different sides. In fact, he seems to have back-slid. They actually know what they're doing is a little off, but they're very good at holding frame. They know if they hold faux-dominant frame well enough, they might get the reality where the dominate. As 373 (kind of) said, it's on us to stop feeding and enabling them.

We can always slide to a timeline where they have less power.

In a negotiation stand off, the best move is to walk away cool and calm. Humans have yet to realize walking away is the best move. It took me a while to get it through my skull.
