Re: What are the Terms of Service for Your Private Universe?

I'm not sure what to ask, it's all overwhelming and I sense the answers will be similar to any other.

If I had any question it would be what would the best question to ask?

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 29438985

If you want to build a house, make a guitar, or go on a holiday, you will need to ask dozens, maybe hundreds of sub questions.

Where can I buy pickups, how can I wire a pickup, etc.

The first step is to get comfortable and healthy in this reality, so you have time to plot an escape.

One good general question is to ask friends and trusted contacts:

"Have you seen The Truman Show/Severance? Do you think that could be real? If you were stuck in The Truman Show/Severance, how would you escape?"

Questions like that have opened up many mind-blowing conversations over the last two years with "normal looking" people around me.

If you ask an NPC what they ate for breakfast, they will tell you.

If you ask an NPC how to escape from this world, they may start to tell you too.

Everyone is looking for The Next Clue on their adventure.

Free-will. They can't suggest anything to you. They can only answer the big questions if you ask.

You may want to be stuck here.

If you "sense the answers will be similar to any other" it may mean you don't value people's advice, and/or you lack the will to implement it. Which may mean you'll be stuck a while. Im half-stuck for similar reasons.

Being too proud to ask questions is a major, often fatal flaw. It is, in fact, one of the biggest blind spots which keeps most people stuck.

If one wanted to simply manifest that guitar out of thin air, without knowing the intricate details, how would that be done? Is that possible? The blueprints for the guitar are already 'out there' somewhere, possibly within the subconscious of all of us even.

Do not mention the name of my tribe, or you will be removed from my private universe.

Well yes, technically, you could. I don't have those skills, to literally make a guitar appear from nowhere. But I'm sure some can do it.

In the etheric realms, that would be easy. Here, less so...

More realistically, you could focus your Imagination and Will on the right guitar for you. Then, you may see one in your price range, in a second hand shop or guitar store. Or your friend could give you one within a week. That is easily possible. Why not be pragmatic and take that path?

Furniture often gets left out on the street here. When I need something, it often appears on the street within a week or two. So I manifested it.

This is a physical world, so there are some manifestation restraints. These restraints exist for a reason. What if you annoyed a shopkeeper, and they could use the power of their mind to manifest a rash on your skin, as you walked away from their shop?

Would you want to live in that world?

Your question may imply you want the end result without putting in The Work. Who doesn't daydream? But The Journey is important too.

That's why Asia is winning now. because they put in the physical work. Whitey (many, but not all) has become indolent. That's maybe a result of stuffing up with carbs three times a day. Bread is deadly.

First I wouldn't need to go to a shopkeeper.

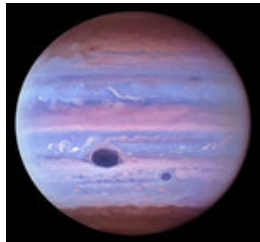

Even if someone could that to someone other than themselves, I would still say yes because I/they could just as easily reverse it.

Please allow me some poetic license.

Would you want to spend all day reversing curses?

I actually like low mutability zones, in theory and sometimes practice.

What I want is two-way passage in and out of here. I haven't got that yet, but it's coming.

I don't like the concrete, pollution and ungrateful parasites in this particular corner of Infinity.

But Im sure the Sun will shine again, and I'll get back to The Shire at some point.

I would find a more permanent solution rather than reversing them one by one. Manifesting a tranparent/aetheric barrier that prevents any negative attachment, just like a guitar.

That's a good idea.

Im learning that now. It's like a forcefield that emanates from your inner Will. Lower Dantien.

Castaneda says discipline makes a sheen that is unpalatable for parasites.

I also like the idea of banning certain events from Your Private Reality.

Like, WWII doesn't exist in mine. I just don't allow it.

But there's this gaunt, talentless, too loud busker who plays on Tuesdays in the park. I can't seem to boot him out of my reality.

I've had a lot of success blocking people from my life by sheer force of will. No words, no arguments, no paper decrees. But this one is hard to get rid of.

When I learn his lesson, Im sure he'll disappear.

Maybe he represents a part of me on some level.

Over the next 2-3 years, I hope to make it harder and harder for parasitic types to come near me when Im walking around.

Force of Will.

All of your thoughts and comments are appreciated, I like your explanation of how you manifest here in the previous post.

That's similar to how I would for years close my eyes and imagine my walls were suddenly blue. Now I moved to a room where the walls are blue without me knowing before hand. While it was not how I intended to manifest it I can't argue with the result...

Stay out of my space, asshole

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 84051574

Attention, AC 84051574, you are an unwelcome intruder in a Private Universe.

We hereby call you, and your entire network, family, soul group, and 100,000 closest collaborators, to answer the following sworn statements and charges.

Can you swear against the following sworn statements? Can you rebut and refute them in full?

Please rebut and refute all the statements under penalty of perjury, within 24 hours, or be annihilated/removed from this simulation.

Failure to rebut the statements means you agree they are 100% True in Law.

You may contest the sworn statements in the comments section of <https://godlikemidnight.vercel.app> or here, on this thread.

No further warnings will be given.

You stand accused, before all of Creation, of the following charges:

You have knowingly taken part in either ritual sacrifice, pedophilia (intercourse with a child under 16-18 years of age), energy theft, or pre-meditated treachery, murder and betrayal.

~Can you swear under penalty of perjury, you have never taken part in any of the above activities?~

If you cannot rebut and refute these charges within 24 hours, you fully agree to be spiritually annihilated over the next 3 days, and return ALL your stolen energies to the person and people you stole them from.

~There is no evidence this is not happening now~

We call All of Creation to Witness and Enforce this law....

If you do not rebut and refute ALL those statements within 1 day, your silence will be taken as full consent to My Sworn Statement.

I, Daozen, swear under Penalty of Perjury, with Full Commercial Liability, the above sworn text is true, to the best of my knowledge,

Signed and Sworn

You know little of the law, daozen. Further, your "affidavit", if I may call it such, is void ab initio because you are clearly not of sound mind.

Next, if one wishes to bring such charges one is required, under western law anyway, to present a BILL OF PARTICULARS to a GRAND JURY, specifying the alleged unlawful activities and proof enough to justify "probable cause".

You have done nothing except violate a LAW OF NATURE...which was succinctly incorporated in the ten commandments:

Thou Shall Not Bear False Witness Against Thy Neighbor.

Your stupidity does not constitute an excuse for your behavior.

You are hereby NOTICED:

Any further attempts to besmirch the reputation and equanimity of your fellow travelers for no obvious reason will be dealt with under existing laws of KARMA...judgement and punishment will come quickly and unrelentingly by supernatural beings and/or bottom dwellers you pay little attention to.

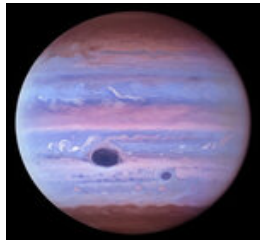

One last point...FUCK YOU
