Good. Imagine how annoying it must be for the real "anomaly",,, what a weird and insulting term. That is , if he were to read here, I can only imagine that he is not very impressed, imagine trying to hide,trying to have a semi normal life,before he has to deal with untold bullshit,and endless dumbfucks that want something for nothing, or think he owes them something, and everyday having to read the deluded opinions of bipedal maggots

That's why powerful people surround themselves with competent admin. You need to erect a wall, but also keep your ear to the public.

I can definitely see the wave of smooth-talking oily types slathering on the brylcream, practicing their dominant handshakes, and brushing up on their NLP techniques.

What is the core problem in this universe?

Wanker-queue-jumpers, maybe.

~O~

You can nip that crud in the bud by having a generic, "please fill out this form", linear process which will get you funded, or whatever, once you fill out some lightweight paperwork. And you employ some women to disburse it.

how do you live as a happy recluse, but affect the public on a large scale? Kubrick managed it, so did Castaneda.

You need to find a way to keep in close contact with the public, via (maybe) radio and web-forums (for example), without having to shake every shiny-eyed-demagogue's hand.

The Best-Friends-Forever-Kumbaya timeline has definitely sailed. But a transactional approach might still work.

Your post is very insightful.

Most of the noise is easy to cancel out at the right frequency.

What better way to have public communication with those that can hear?

Live a life in paradise with your family on a small permaculture farm, maybe living off-grid. Use the internet to tell your story and build your brand. Your message will sell itself and you'll be living the dream.

You will still affect the public by living your true purpose here. It doesn't matter what you do, as long as you do you.

The powerful sages walk among us and just blend in like everyday folk. They have no reason to stand out in this world because their power is manifest by simply being here.

Being yourself is the most powerful thing you can do, and it allows you to champion your own reality. Your power manifests into your reality and then returns to you. Control it wisely.

Pussy, off my dick, sex sex sex

Ah ha! :D I know what this thread needs

The anomalies need to get fucked hard by pretty girls with peachy round butts

Testosterone builds quickly, so I've been told

Well for some of us

We gotta remember wee in the age of man becoming woman and the opposite

White is black black is white

Remember the Bible passage, not sure which one but it says there is strong (magical) delusion in those days

Powerful sorcery, so much so that even the "elect" will be deceived if possible

Saying it there a good chance it could happen

What does glp think ?

Happened or no ?

Did you ever get the damn rug for covering this shit ? Ik its confusing without the veil and the alien signals bombarding the satellites in a casual fashion

So here's the deal, we face a few possibilities now, can the bickering cease please ? To UH oh idk, deal with this off earth invasion that WE started

ROFL

King Kong ain't got shit on me

But he's just the beginning

Hmmmm...

Re: Anomaly tards we ride...

How does anyone who claims to know about him know?

Simple question.

The answer logically involves spying on a person without their consent. Yet these people seem to Judge him...when they are criminals themselves both legal and morally.

Anyone willing to confess they were spying on him and which method they used?

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 78110515

It doesn't matter, they know, I know who they are and who they talk to, that is why they shut up. That is why both sides shut up.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 85017124

You are assuming you are the one one they were experimenting on.

There are many. Some go destruction tested. Some succeeded.

The one who can explain it all and how everything work's was the most successful candidate. He still defies them to this day. He is the only one with The She in his life.

That is why he was able to remain stable despite the attempts to destabilise him.

All the ones who went deep end crazy didn't have The Her in their lives you will notice.

You are not the only one they experimented on.

Understanding how people were able to obverse any of them and perhaps all of them reveals the last vital part of the puzzle to all and sundry.

Great posts Anoms, the difficult part for most (myself among them) is leaving behind a sufficient amount of the conditioning you/we may have received over a lifetime.. (much easier said than done as said cultural conditioning plays a critical role in every human beings sense of identity.. yikes!)

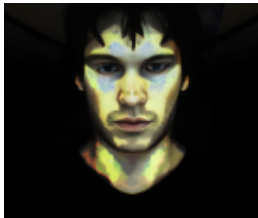

in other words, to free up enough energy where this vision becomes a tangible possibility and not some out of reach pipe dream.

Castaneda talks about stored and freed energy a lot.

He says it's the only thing that counts.

I just did a Ctrl-F for 'impeccable' and 'energy' in this book, and found an amazing store of knowledge.

You don't need to give up your identity to start over. A change of surroundings helps, though.

Imagine if all you had was a backpack, a suitcase, maybe some boxes in storage, and most of the rest of your life was digitized.

Where would you go, and what would you do with a blank slate, and hopefully, a decent amount of cash?

Releasing physical and material attachments does a great deal of work on our mental conditioning. We accumulate so much based on different thoughts we experience, so that when we detach from objects, it clears parts of our mind we may not have realized were blocked.

So, now you've managed to whittle yourself down to that which you can carry around and have found a new home. Would you still have time and energy to accomplish your goals? I guess that depends on your age, abilities, and how conservative you've been so far in managing your personal finances.

If you're still young and employed full-time, consider it like taking a mini-retirement. Get out of the corporate grind and explore entrepreneurship in a foreign land where you can live cheaply and essentially buy yourself time. I'm just spitballing at this point...

Not everyone can just pick up and leave or have the means to do so.

However, I do see the potential for many people leaving behind industrial or commercial-type jobs in order to get back to the land and help restore the Earth. It makes sense for those people to take their experience, skills, and wealth to other countries where they can participate in this win-win situation.

If they are here for regeneration efforts and choose their destination wisely, they'll be surrounded by people supporting their efforts in raising the world out of poverty, and will most likely be living like royalty. The adoration and respect is going to be different, though. If you made a peasant a king, he wouldn't act like a traditional king.
