Anyone notice a change in energies this past week? Like everything feels weird and off? Emotional vertigo?

Anyone notice a change in energies this past week? Like everything feels weird and off? Emotional vertigo?

It feels like things are getting worse.

Very ominous. Like the sand in the hourglass is running out.

I don't know what to make of people. I get the sense people don't like each other in general.. it's a weird vibe..very unsettled..like I said..like an emotional vertigo.

I dread waking up more than I used to. It's just the unshakable feeling that things are about to take a very bad turn..and everything might erupt like a chain reaction.

It's Thanksgiving..and there is zero holdiaiy vibe. Like the joy has been stripped from everything. Like people know something is very wrong..but they don't acknowledge it or talk about it.

My anxiety is really high today. I feel like things will soon become a nightmare. I thought I was ready. Apparently not. Something weird is increasing.

Sorry to delve so much into my feelings and intuition. I don't really have anyone else to share it with.

They steal billions every day. And how do Americans respond to it? Taking part in the holiday tradition$ that the system imposes upon us..and putting up their Christmas lights when they know there is nothing Christmas about it.

Re: Anyone notice a change in energies this past week? Like everything feels weird and off? Emotional vertigo?

Very good points, OP.

I think that this feeling, which I also started experiencing last week, is due to the knowledge that people like us, who are awake, have of how close we may be to nuclear conflict, the precarious state of the economy and rampant inflation, as well as yet another crooked election.

One can only stay in the kind of emotional state invoked by these things for just so long before it begins to take its toll.

Yes, humanity and the world is coming to it's darkest descent, stay close to God (most importantly), and with those whom you can trust to make it through to the other side.

If you...

- Apologize for wrecking the planet.
- Financially compensate those who were hurt.
- Put some person hours into fixing all the mistakes made.
- Eat less factory farmed food.
- Focus on improving your local area.

...things will likely get better for you.

If you don't do any of the 5 suggested activities, things will get worse for you.

A peace plan has been on the table since 2009.

No one listened, hence the current situation.

This world is under judgement. Judgement Day (which is closer to two years, not a day) is when the karmic books start to be balanced.

There will be no big ominous event. The Matrix will just be gutted from the inside.

Sincere souls need fear nothing.
