So I deleted a thread...

Ever done this?

Dropped such a logic bomb, truth bomb, experience bomb. In a thread....

and just cancelled it at the end of hitting "Post"?

Nobody will get you.
 They wont understand your thinking.

Requires way too much "background knowledge"...out of 10000...maybe 10 or less will actually understand the body, comment or make subtle comments that advance the topic...

Nobody asks deep questions, so its literally impossible to spread truth...

So I know things?!? I agree...nobody cares! So the pearls will be mine alone...

I'm a prodigy of Knights of Columbus, and Dawn spawn...

I've have had the ability since youth, and after with proper training to always advance to the forefront of any prospect.

Pearls are useless, like gold if you haven't stacked them like you should.

Every once in a while...I gotta kick GLP in the ass, because they just dont get it, and I care about peeps...

Nobody wants to larp it? Ok.

On Dec 25th the real breakthrough achieved with fusion is revealed. Infinite energy is only relative to a scenario if infinite life. mRNA was grossly misunderstood as a necessary part of genome modification. In fact it is only the means justifying an end. GlycoRNA in fact allows full instantaneous CRISPR style modification and uptake as it communicates instructions through the entire makeup of biological organisms. It could transmit the commands simultaneously through every literal fiber of a human without ever involving any kind of invasive nanoparticle or spike protein. That was only the kill switch for when the new format and contracts of life end but this could never be admitted until the full picture was made clear.

Get your ass to Mars. Something about derpa link. Larp over.

To be fair I believe a lot of us ponder things while we aren't here. I know I do! Just earlier while I was cooking breakfast I was pondering my friend's comment about Haze's elongated anus, what that might look like, and if I could work out a complex Elon joke out of the concept.

Alas the joke went nowhere but I do ponder our various conversations here throughout the day

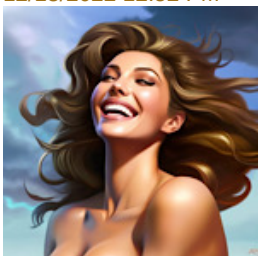

But yea I'm not going to think hard unless I'm getting paid
