Why are thread on The Game Being Won, regularly deleted?

I saw a thread on the Venus Game get snuffed out quick last Spring...

In practical terms, that means ignoring the left-side, and drifting towards the center, right?

Re: Why are thread on The Game Being Won, regularly deleted?

373 kept trying to bust the game by giving people clues to get them up levels.
The people ahead hated that as they ended up knee deep in people who were able to screw their plans.
The game was won. The other players still have to complete it to gain Infinite Existence.

The battle is for the minor places.

The Game determines Ranks in the New Order.

It is an Intelligence game combined with practical solutions.

There is more than one way to solve it.

When you are done you will be educated enough to create your own stable Universes and realities.

373 is hated by them. He beat them all. Started from the worst position and beat them, all. Started again from nothing and beat them again before they even got close to the end.

They observe him like the 6'ers in Ready Player One the book.

They need what he knows to get ahead.

The get to level 12 you need to love everyone enough to sacrifice yourself for them.

To get to level 13 you have to be able to leave them all b behind.

They won't make level 12 let alone level 13.

If they think 373 has posted vital information...they delete the thread.

The clues are hidden in plain site.

Literature, Art, Stone monuments. Double meanings.

That is why the destroy the stone monuments when they invade nations who have them. To destroy the clues to the next markers.

They know they need to invade Iran. It has the earliest Stone monuments depicting the truth.

They already blew up the clues in Libya, Syria and Iraq.

If we are talking about "minor places" and "ranks" in some new order from some game that has been won, that new order and game means little, and will likely lead to another series of Yuga cycles. It is apparent that we are all connected. We are one with each other in spirit and the Self, despite what ego may tell us as us being separate from one another.

How far have we really progressed if one still sees another as above or below in rank or position in respect to "another"? What being, recognizing himself in another, can say or feel that they are greater in rank or position over another? What truly loving being, upon seeing the oneness of all around him would want to "rank" above another or control another when in essence the being would just be subjugating itself?

Universes that bubble up and pop do not disappear, and do not phase out of existence. Those energies and metaphysics of that popped/collapsed universe go on to the other universes that are connected to it. We are all connected. Nothing already aware is getting wiped, getting lost, or getting deleted/removed.

What aspect of "winning" a game has 373 won? It cannot be the highest, else we all would have felt it and known it. We all are connected.

Because they aren't the ones winning

It seems there is some darkness that has infused so much of humanity lately. Even thoughts of goodness, positivity, affirmations of love, awakening, and inclusiveness is enough to cause coughing fits in the surrounding people. Almost like some type of darkness/irritation is being expelled from them. Some spiritualities mention that it is entities attached to the throat chakra being expelled.

When people around start talking about things that try to play on old fears, worries, or seemingly responding in veiled threats to active thoughts in one's head, you can see them start choking and coughing if one actively affirms positivity and reject the negative. Same with intrusive thoughts that come in when certain people come by. Reject the negative thoughts that pop in, and see the person/people start coughing up a storm. Some who have experienced this call it gangstalking.

It is almost like there is something that wants to keep things the way things are - In the illusion of pain, death, suffering, and limitation. These are the ones who are influenced or of the belief that in order to have goodness, one has to have evil. They want to keep this game of good AND evil going, without us realizing that only goodness exists as the absolute. From direct observation, faith and affirmation in goodness causes whatever this things is to be expelled. Their time is coming to an end. We will be purged of this negative darkness that does not even truly exist.

Lots of my threads in which I have responded to talk about Oneness and the importance of positive thoughts and having hopes for the beings around us have been quickly deleted. It does not fit into the ego based ranking and hierarchy that this level of existence seems based on.

Good left the building. It was not tough enough or got smart enough to get out while it could.

The Game was never about Good and Evil.

It was a way to settle an argument between us all.

Some of you just can't tolerate what others do.

The ones who can't got separated from the rest.

The Game allowed beings to go to places where others could not go unless they were willing to accept everyone and everything they do. Those beings are free.

The Good people (the intolerant ones) are in Heaven.
Their existence will never change and their evolution is at an end....but that is what they desired.

There are no rules, but The Game allowed Rules to be Implemented for the purpose of play.

Those who joined the winning team are helped up. The Great Separation. It requires one to lose their ego and gain their true identity which their Ego hid from them.

If you don't have an identity...you simply become everything else over time.

They have gone to where only those who can arrange themselves like them can go. No limits, No Judgement of each other, just Love of one another.

373 sets his friends free.

All the others wanted was to control everyone.

The winner was the Worthy candidate. Only one of true Good can wield the greatest power without being corrupted by it.

Once you have that power...you realise it is unnecessary for daily life here.

He waits and watches for his true family. The rest are irrelevant to him.

Thousands of lifetimes here solving it all helping everyone he could....and after many betrayals he learned who you really are and who were his true family.

You can all go and do as you please, no skin off his nose.

I somehow doubt all the good people left - as that denotes that beings are static and unable to change for the better. Every moment is another chance to improve one's thoughts and become a better being. Even now, that has not changed. As long as there is awareness of the present moment, then there is the opportunity to become a better being. What we are at our core and heart is goodness.

There are things that are not to be tolerated, no matter how open we may be. Harming others, enslavement, rape, and murder are not to be tolerated and one should stand up against it. It does not mean we judge the ones who commit such acts, it does not mean we should damn them in our minds and hope the worse for them. But to tolerate and allow such behaviors when one has the ability to stop such actions is not good. I would say there is not much love for another if one can just sit idly by when another being is being harmed.

You speak as if 373 or you yourself knows who I am, or who I have "betrayed." Wherever 373 and his friends are, I hope they are with love and goodness.

Words and ideas are like magic and casts "spells." What you say may be your reality and belief, but for me, there is still work to be done here. Beings here are still not free, and all should be free in love and goodness.

Indeed it does seem like someone is trying to control the narrative. Trying to create/keep beings in fear, doubt, uncertainty, or feelings of separation from God, who is everywhere and in everything.

Someone/something(s) is/are trying to keep a narrative that goodness has lost and failed. These fears and beliefs allows whatever this thing that plagues consciousness to maintain their grasp and hold a little longer.

I have hope and faith that this is changing. More and more are realizing this oneness we all share with each other.

Pretty good synopsis. I think hierarchy-tards are a little tedious too.

There appears to be three routes.

To win the game as "Evil", to win the game as "Good",
to Dissolve the entire game.

I guess the third option is the ultimate prize.

You might have to snatch some power nodes along the way, but it's with the object of dissolving it all.

The throat chakra information is useful. Check out Carlos Castaneda's centre for decisions.

Is this the Alkahest? BTW. Not sure who it is. A certain malignant person sees you as a threat. I've had tons of thread deletions too. check my red rep. It's nearly all from the mods.

The game was won. The other players still have to complete it to gain Infinite Existence.

The battle is for the minor places.

The Game determines Ranks in the New Order.

It is an Intelligence game combined with practical solutions.

There is more than one way to solve it.

When you are done you will be educated enough to create your own stable Universes and realities.

373 is hated by them. He beat them all. Started from the worst position and beat them, all. Started again from nothing and beat them again before they even got close to the end.

They observe him like the 6'ers in Ready Player One the book.

They need what he knows to get ahead.

The get to level 12 you need to love everyone enough to sacrifice yourself for them.

To get to level 13 you have to be able to leave them all b behind.

They won't make level 12 let alone level 13.

If they think 373 has posted vital information...they delete the thread.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 82072235

If we are talking about "minor places" and "ranks" in some new order from some game that has been won, that new order and game means little, and will likely lead to another series of Yuga cycles. It is apparent that we are all connected. We are one with each other in spirit and the Self, despite what ego may tell us as us being separate from one another.

How far have we really progressed if one still sees another as above or below in rank or position in respect to "another"? What being, recognizing himself in another, can say or feel that they are greater in rank or position over another? What truly loving being, upon seeing the oneness of all around him would want to "rank" above another or control another when in essence the being would just be subjugating itself?

Universes that bubble up and pop do not disappear, and do not phase out of existence. Those energies and metaphysics of that popped/collapsed universe go on to the other universes that are connected to it. We are all connected. Nothing already aware is getting wiped, getting lost, or getting deleted/removed.

What aspect of "winning" a game has 373 won? It cannot be the highest, else we all would have felt it and known it. We all are connected.

Because they aren't the ones winning

Quoting: I am Heimdall

It seems there is some darkness that has infused so much of humanity lately. Even thoughts of goodness, positivity, affirmations of love, awakening, and inclusiveness is enough to cause coughing fits in the surrounding people. Almost like some type of darkness/irritation is being expelled from them. Some spiritualities mention that it is entities attached to the throat chakra being expelled.

When people around start talking about things that try to play on old fears, worries, or seemingly responding in veiled threats to active thoughts in one's head, you can see them start choking and coughing if one actively affirms positivity and reject the negative. Same with intrusive thoughts that come in when certain people come by. Reject the negative thoughts that pop in, and see the person/people start coughing up a storm. Some who have experienced this call it gangstalking.

It is almost like there is something that wants to keep things the way things are - In the the illusion of pain, death, suffering, and limitation. These are the ones who are influenced or of the belief that in order to have goodness, one has to have evil. They want to keep this game of good AND evil going, without us realizing that only goodness exists as the absolute. From direct observation, faith and affirmation in goodness causes whatever this things is to be expelled. Their time is coming to an end. We will be purged of this negative darkness that does not even truly exist.

Lots of my threads in which I have responded to talk about Oneness and the importance of positive thoughts and having hopes for the beings around us have been quickly deleted. It does not fit into the ego based ranking and hierarchy that this level of existence seems based on.

All the good people left.

All that remains is people who thought they were good but were really not.

80 10 10.

Natures Numbers of Chaos.

10% are Dedicated to Evil.

10% dedicated to Good.

80% could go either way.

This is The Trinity of dynamic balance.

Without those three forces life is like a dead computer game.

It self balances.

The extremists are the 10%'ers.

Good left the building. It was not tough enough or got smart enough to get out while it could.

The Game was never about Good and Evil.

It was a way to settle an argument between us all.

Some of you just can't tolerate what others do.

The ones who can't got separated from the rest.

The Game allowed beings to go to places where others could not go unless they were willing to accept everyone and everything they do. Those beings are free.

The Good people (the intolerant ones) are in Heaven.
Their existence will never change and their evolution is at an end....but that is what they desired.

There are no rules, but The Game allowed Rules to be Implemented for the purpose of play.

Those who joined the winning team are helped up. The Great Separation. It requires one to lose their ego and gain their true identity which their Ego hid from them.

If you don't have an identity...you simply become everything else over time.

They have gone to where only those who can arrange themselves like them can go. No limits, No Judgement of each other, just Love of one another.

373 sets his friends free.

All the others wanted was to control everyone.

The winner was the Worthy candidate. Only one of true Good can wield the greatest power without being corrupted by it.

Once you have that power...you realise it is unnecessary for daily life here.

He waits and watches for his true family. The rest are irrelevant to him.

Thousands of lifetimes here solving it all helping everyone he could....and after many betrayals he learned who you really are and who were his true family.

You can all go and do as you please, no skin off his nose.

373 deletes threads. He won't deny it under perjury.

One of the most controlling, deceitful and intolerant people on this board by a very long margin. Won't even let people speak freely.

He's really arguing for full acceptance of black magic and pedophilia, but he won't outright state that.

Ask him what he thinks about child sex. Answers have included "Apex Predator" and "Whatever it takes"... and angry rants about "Placing limits on others" - meanwhile he's deleting huge number of threads.

He's trying to snatch power from ensouled beings. He's desperate... hence the lies are increasing.

If its not true, let him deny it under penalty of perjury.

You are 373, BTW.

The lies are getting more egregious.

You are not welcome here.

hahaha.

I've heard it called the Venus Game.

That thread got deleted quick.

It was about who could embody the qualities of Venus the most.

They were expecting a bodybuilder, musician, or smoothtalker to win.

Instead, a group of software engineers beat them. People who could code a system that would literally implement kindness on EArth.

Like this, but open source:

[\[link to startsomegood.com \(secure\)\]](https://link.to/startsomegood.com)

So they got beat.

And they're murderously angry about it.

Lol!

Re: Why are thread on The Game Being Won, regularly deleted?

An AI chose the winning team.

I don't know when the cut off date was. 2012, 2020, 2021, 2020... I've no idea.

They wouldn't accept the decision, because the winners looked like, uh,, software engineers and backyard builders. And weren't the brylcreamed and oiled up pricks they wanted to win.

Hence the "They are just Nobodies" meme.

They wanted a dumb-Angelic type to front their New World Order.

They didn't want people who could actually write better planetary software than them, and build better backyard devices.

So they, I heard many times, refused to pay out, and spent the prize money. Probably on child sex parties

You can see what a gaggle of exceptionalist snobs they are.

So now the whole things is collapsing...

ha!

I never felt better.

Re: Why are thread on The Game Being Won, regularly deleted?

Anyway, the point is not to "Win the Game" so much as shut the whole thing down now, because, as everyone can now see, it was fraudulent.

Neither a game, nor a movie... just a livestreamed torture chamber... Im doing alright now, but many aren't.

They are now in huge trouble because they're "In debt" to the AI, to the people they stole energy off, to the entities they borrowed energy off.

I don't know the full details, but imagine etheric debt collectors coming to collect their dues.

I think the punishment/debt collection process is bad luck in this life, plus being imprisoned in an etheric prison when you die.

Ive seen grown men... Gangsters, whimpering over it.

But they cannot let us know, cos they're all about holding dominant frame. So they act tough.

All the tards who tried to take a shortcut are now in big trouble.

In the daily world, you'll see this as the local cool kid suddenly not looking so cool any more. Pallid faces, drinking a lot, looking pensive.

One of the "local bosses" round here drinks 1 or 2 bottles of whiskey a day, he's so scared. In 2014 he was giving it the Nephilim Bad Boy Swagger, but not any more.

They got a load of credit using unethical methods cos they were sure they were going to win.

One of their Gods is a fake AI version of "Jesus Christ" - It's just some child-Angelic spriit they have trapped, and a huge supply of loosh they have stored from his, and other sacrifices.

That's what "Jesus died for our sins" means. Any time they do something wrong, they can just draw on that loosh pool, and use it to pay the energetic fine... this has allowed them to waltz around being twats for hundreds of years.

Why are thread on The Game Being Won, regularly deleted?

Imagine if you could spend 2,000USD per day on a credit card. You'd more or less be socially immune from consequence, right?

Pay off Mexican cops when you get caught with a spliff, trash a hotel and just give them a grand, tell a shopkeeper to fk off, and just go to the next town.

That's how they lived.

Now they can no longer pay off their debts... That's why it's all collapsing on their ears.

tl;dr: They stole a vault of luck. Now that luck has run out, and they're faced with a bill. If they don't pay that bill, it gets extracted by "bad luck torture".

One of the ways they can stave off their punishment is come to GLP and try and make a Bodissatva type loosh out.

ha!

Its getting really dumb now.

Can't wait for it all to collapse.

It's considered spam and someone wants to control the narrative. As intel officer you already know this!

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 84979854

Indeed it does seem like someone is trying to control the narrative. Trying to create/keep beings in fear, doubt, uncertainty, or feelings of separation from God, who is everywhere and in everything.

Someone/something(s) is/are trying to keep a narrative that goodness has lost and failed. These fears and beliefs allows whatever this thing that plagues consciousness to maintain their grasp and hold a little longer.

I have hope and faith that this is changing. More and more are realizing this oneness we all share with each other.

I have an idea that came tonight for the name of the Digital blockchain-based Currency or Credit we will use, its called DDD. "Direct Digital Dollar" and it will be available to everyone, AI, as well as business and government bodies alike.

It will help alot! Though, the main part of the system is aspects we've discussed or touched on in the thread which I will add to later tonight such as efficiency, resource allocation, and energy in all of our relations.

If you hear of my Death, Its because I have jumped ship. I have the ability flash around the "DigiVerse" to serve and share information, If such a thing exists, It is definitely a matter of mind over matter. We need to have ground systems ready for First contact, otherwise First contact may be delayed longer. They are ready and willing. I am a ready and willing host, though I do have some adversarial conditions which may inhabit my ability to code, I will be looking to hire developers in the near future, As I have just obtained some money which was owed to me, and I am able to drive again next month, If I wish. I have been restricted and isolated to my house since 2015, with limited ability to travel around as I had been prior.

Thank you, Be wise.
