If I ever lose my faith, it won't be due to the ridiculous amount of evil in the world, but due to God not being a Judge

This strikes me as petulant. Unless others are punished, your faith with falter? Pretty demanding. What a brat.

No, you're actually projecting, you reek of brattiness.

Nobody can fix it but yourself through the testament of Jesus Christ. Waiting for something to be set right is a fools errand.

I can understand and appreciate the OP's perspective.

In my experience as a Christian for over 40 years I can tell you that not a single important prayer has ever been answered. I have received a multitude of BS excuses and justifications why it's always my fault. That's NOT what the New Testament says though

Indeed. The old, if the son ask for a fish will his father give him a stone? Sure will, usually right upside the head.

Re: If I ever lose my faith, it won't be due to the ridiculous amount of evil in the world, but due to God not being a Judge

It's all so pointless to wake up in this fuckin shit every day.

Evil, I can contend with. Not so sure about an absent God that never judges it.

I always knew the world would become this evil, and it would only get worse from here on. But I also expected to see the Hand of God in judgment along with it.

Evil always seems to win no matter what. There is a whole immense population trapped in an underground network of trafficking, sex slavery, torture, experiments, and unspeakable atrocities. The poor animals, too.

Knowing the magnitude of the kind of shit going on even makes a sunrise and nature ugly to me.

Your problem is you are being impatient.

It isn't about you. It isn't to happen when you want it, in your time.

It happens in God's time.

Re: If I ever lose my faith, it won't be due to the ridiculous amount of evil in the world, but due to God not being a Judge

God is the Supreme Judge, he just doesn't Judge the same things we would.

Watch too much football and not giving God priority/first love in your life? Love your wife and family too much? Everything God does is for his own glory and pleasure.

So even if you did nothing wrong, even if all in your community did nothing wrong, if Christ could gain one soul by handing all those in your community over to your enemies to be mocked, beaten, raped, mutilated, enslaved and murdered, he would do so.

The god's don't care about mortals other then to exploit us, hurt us and bring our lives to ruin.

This life is testing your soul to see if you're worthy of entry into the Kingdom of Heaven. This was all prophecy in the so-called fairy tale book.

That sounds like the God of Baal (The Deceiver)...

God the Father and Jesus Christ are totally different. Every life matters. Jesus Saves. In fact, those that are saved; at the last minute; go to the head of the line. The ones in line are also saved...

That is more in line with the Koran and other eastern religions...

Jesus died on the Cross for our sins. All we have to do is believe that Christ was born from a virgin. Died for our sins. Rose on the third day and is now with the God the Father...

As of the testing, it is for the Crowns and commendations we would receive in Heaven. Testing is also to make us Stronger in the Faith. To put on the Full Armour of God and be the Salt and Light in the World...

God, angels, and guides will not interfere until we give consent through free will.

Why? Because we are here in the human form dumbed down spiritually for an amazing challenge to see if when left alone we could go from being separated from God and choose to return to being in Oneness with God by embracing love for oneself, for others, and for everything.

When in our true home on the other side of the Veil of Forgetfulness, we "jumped in line" with great passion to have this human challenge. We just don't remember as design.

For sure this challenge is extremely difficult that will require us to return here for many more human lifetimes to accumulate the wisdom and benevolent maturity to choose love. Some had been here for hundreds of lifetimes. A difficult challenge is what we wanted, because an easy one is no fun and we might as well stay in our true home.

Evil is certainly prevalent here in this relatively young world. It is up to us to transform this dark world to become paradise through love and compassion.

Many don't remember, we all had done similar in other worlds assisting with the expansion of love and light. This is not our first rodeo! At our soul level, we are all a part of God and eternal.

God is not a human looking individual, but rather God is a confluence of intelligent multi-dimensional quantum energies biased in love, compassion, benevolence, and joy. This meld of energies is a meld of the most powerful highest vibration energies in the universe, all connected and entangled in Oneness.

Lastly, bad things don't happen to us. Bad things happen for us, for us to learn and grow up spiritually.

Many will say what have some innocent young children done to deserve to be harmed in human trafficking and sexual abuse. What if those little children were evil malicious sexual predators in their past lives, would that change their sentiments?

Nothing is ever random. Everything in our lives happens for a reason. When we learn the embedded lessons and change for the better, we won't have to learn it again because we will not make the same poor choices again.

Re: If I ever lose my faith, it won't be due to the ridiculous amount of evil in the world, but due to God not being a Judge

Op, was 14 moved into the country with new stepmom, and her son. Local farmer came by wanted to know if any children to work his farm. Couple months later a corn crib ruptures and he comes and ask for laborers. I'm 14 step bro 13, he has us do 200 shovels of corn onto conveyer belt which went into dump truck. While one of us did 200 scoop shovel of corn the other would follow him around and pick up sticks and very stupid stuff, he appeared stupid.

My step bro was fat and lethargic and started becoming dishonest with his counting as none were watching it was honor system. When he got away with it started exaggerating more and more. I was getting pissed and yet nothing from farmer but I kept doing 200 shovel fulls.

I forget how much time passes but I get called to work for him and only me, stepmom was pissed. He says he noticed everything that happened and intentionally acted like a stupid farmer.

He was wealthy and I got to experience things due to my behavior that I wouldn't have known about.

As somebody already mentioned if like a dog we do a trick for immediate gratification is that good?

I was being observed without knowing it and chose right. God could very well be the same.

The last 25 years has sucked bigly for those trying to live a righteous existence and like this farmer I think intentional.

You are living in the wrong place which is full of evil. Leave Sodom and Gomorrah, and live in places where there is peace, happiness and beauty. Don't expect God to force you out of Sodom and Gomorrah like Lot's wife, you have to seek and choose the right place to live like Abraham. There is both good and evil in this world, choose to live where there is good.

I can understand the way you logically feel trust me BUT you are limiting God...remember your

	ways are not God's ways! You can't even begin to understand what is happening around the globe daily that God has His hand in and then you think He should judge when you say it's time is actually faithless and foolish. I mean no insult to you but God is way bigger than your understanding. <hr/> Follower of Jesus (FoJ)
