How do you jack into this SIM from base reality?

Ready Player One haptic suit?

Matrix pod-salt bath?

Do you need to go to AMC HQ, or log in from home?

Re: How do you jack into this SIM from base reality?

Base reality is formless and so are you.

Base Reality is Pure consciousness.

Everything is a product of consciousness, which is not bound by any axis.

This only seems real because a piece of your consciousness either chooses to believe it is real or has been mesmerised into thinking it is real, or is simulating thinking it is real in order to experience it.

It is a mental construct. The problems answers and questions are mental. Learning is a mental experience. The more you learn and know the more you can create.

It gets elaborate once a being (an organised band/zone of consciousness) gains higher Order logic functions.

Jacking in is simply observing.

It is likely this is just one point of observation for your consciousness, which has to broadcast the signal as part of the act of observation. The price you pay sort of thing.

Many beings all observing the same reality makes it stable...as long as they all believe the same things about it.

Acceptance of all things is an Upgrade. It allows more to the individual. When you stop trying to impose limits on other you cease to be limited.

Acceptance places your consciousness at the fluid levels where there is no conflict. This is where we make super orders.

Dualities are "PVP" competitive spaces. You can't really die because you are a consciousness.

Your Soul is the observation and recording point.

Some "people" are player killers.

Re: How do you jack into this SIM from base reality?

Consider this reality makes you "feel" which is addictive.

Feeling is Emotions and Emotions can override logic and logic systems.

This reality "tickles you" into producing "Loosh" and we are addicted to it because of this.

The maker dared us all "You can't beat my game" and it is because I am Smarter than the Rest of you". The Apple itself. The Ultimate bait. Anything with an Ego had to play The Game.

Thus no one is really here against their will.

People come back and subject "their character" to this because...you feel. In the great nothingness for a consciousness to experience sensation...=drugs.

All this feeling either destroys you through consumption (people lose the ability to resist) or you attain the mental mastery required to go the superior environments.

Mental environments so flexible (like the other ones I make) if you can't control your mind and keep it stable under all circumstances you lose control and are "lost" mentally with no ability to grasp any point of reference. It is just one big blur.

Change what your subconsciousness believes here at the base level and you change what controls you.

The body is like a pair of sunglasses. Change the composition of the lenses...

The human body is the ultimate expression of Phi and all the constants and ratios of this reality. It can do ANYTHING here.

That is why they locked it off. It is a Game Breaker.

Instead people are distracted away from self mastery. Self Mastery is a mental thing.

You need enough mental discipline to resist the most addictive feeling thing there is and never touch it again. Paradoxically at that point you can use it freely as it no longer can make you addicted to it.

The Void.

How do you jack into this SIM from base reality?

I think many beings want to go back to The Void.

So what about the dystopian reality where they run this reality from? Where the streets are more crowded, where they have a zombie problem.

Many people in Taipei describe the same Other World. Their descriptions are consistent.

Is that just another layer?

Seems like they are even more trapped there. But who knows?

I understand 90% of the first part of the game is giving up distractions. Any linguist, musician, or sportsman of note had to put in the time.

Im getting better at resisting the feelings and 'gifts'. It's one thing to resist material gifts. The next, is to resist sensual experiences. Or not to crave them.

I know that one day this reality: Humans, Earth, Saturn, Moon etc... may end up controlling All of Creation. Hence the huge war over it.

Depicted in many movies, from Lord of the Rings, to Due Where's My Car.
