Re: The most striking thing about the Anomaly is his sadness

It's not so much about the message, as it is the money, and the software.

"The message" has been delivered by hundreds of thousands of prophets over hundreds of years. It's always been ignored.

So its unsurprising humans will not listen.

Once you get some donations, you can pay people to clean up the Earth, and set up better infrastructure.

Or, you set up better software.

Until then, you can boil in your own juices. We can see you getting desperate, even though you're running around trying to hold dominant frame, like the tards you are.

What if everyone gets bored of you?

Everyone knows you have the smear campaign of the century waiting, so why be dumb enough to try and do this publicly?

Mormons and Catholics are both helpful, to be sure.

Now it's about spending 2 months getting a skeletal app written. Something that works.

They are waiting for a coherent real-world system to be put together. "A guy with ideas" is not good enough for them. As everyone has dumped the entire workload on a small group, they are going to have to wait. Progress is slow, because few are volunteering. So that's entirely on your heads.

If we're denied progress in the material, we'll progress in the spiritual.

~O~

Can anyone be trusted?

You just assume that 50% of any group you meet are unhelpful and deceptive, and take it from there.

You sift through people, until you find the 10% that are solidly onside, and you use them as points-of-contact with the top 30% of any given group.

I see every institution as being full of Grey Hats. that's the most realistic and pragmatic way to Walk the Path.

I would like it to be known that I will give a reward to anyone who returns my Tikva. She was last seen in Colorado Springs in the Briargate area. She is the most athletic pug in world history. Her nasal passage ways were surgically made wider to handle high altitudes and breathe easier.

Less people will be killed if she is returned. Unharmful.

I was thinking hard about the downsides of the donation thing. I knew someone who donated 1500USD to me in 2015, and acted like I was his goddamn pet. lol. Very demeaning.

So yes, there are better ways. And its best to be beholden to no one, as you say.

~O~

How do you extract wealth from the financial markets?

Step one is intending the loosh/wealth-energy to come back to your using raw willpower, right?

The markets are just stolen dream energy, anyway, right?

But what is step two?

You build the wealth energy around you, and then wait until it manifests in the physical, via business luck? I already have channels that are starting to work.

Or is there a more direct way, using lawful money, precious metals and USC411?

Interesting subject. Maybe we can start a thread if this one gets nuked.

Re: The most striking thing about the Anomaly is his sadness

He feels the pain of the world and everyone in it.

We live in a dark age where evil rules.

Sometimes it becomes unbearable to handle the reality of everything. His demeanor becomes grim and silent.

He feels helpless because he knows there's only so much he can do.

He has the answers but he can't force people to listen to him.

He has already tried, and he can deliver the message better than anyone else, but it was a fruitless endeavour. All they do is laugh and mock him, or even worse, threaten him.

The masses are too indoctrinated. As time goes on society will continue falling apart and everyone will suffer more and more.

That will lead to some people finally waking up to the hellish reality we're facing.

But that's the thing, people need to do it on their own. Nobody can force them to see it.

So the Anomaly will wait for the day when society is more receptive to his message. He knows things will get a lot worse before that happens though, and it makes him sad.

Re: The most striking thing about the Anomaly is his sadness

True. But who isn't planning to trap or betray somehow?

Very few.

So you take it as a part of the landscape.

Betrayal is like rain. You just shrug it off and go to the next stall.

~O~

You can minimize betrayal by

- Sticking to open source software.
- Signing nothing.
- Keeping a wide circle of acquaintances, instead of looking for a 'wingman-for-life'.
- Staying on the sides of every institution, not seeking office, and interacting with whoever comes along.

Actually, the more transactional you stay, the less likely you are to be disappointed.

Re: The most striking thing about the Anomaly is his sadness

I don't appreciate the moniker.

I have never had a tattoo. No abortions. Have never allowed drugs like marijuana in my body. Never seen movies like Star Wars, Lord of the Rings, Harry Potter or even Narnia.

I light a menorah and have studied eschatology my entire life. Born to hate Windsor.

I would not use the word "chosen" when addressing celestial royalty.

Even Knights are not so disrespectful in my presence.

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 17835662

So why do they call you that? What is the reason for the menorah and why do you mention it? Why did you study that your whole life and at what age did you start?

So what words would you use to describe yourself besides those you have already chosen? Why is there knights in your presence?

Quoting: Anonymous Coward 78993940

Because they know that hell has tried to kill me since birth but I never die. I am indestructible. I can lie cold with no heartbeat. From the time I could read I was engrossed in the Old Testament.

Knights think they are clever. They once moved me onto Rose Briar Street. Some of you will get that.

I would like it to be known that I will give a reward to anyone who returns my Tikva. She was last seen in Colorado Springs in the Briargate area. She is the most athletic pug in world history. Her nasal passage ways were surgically made wider to handle high altitudes and breathe easier.

Less people will be killed if she is returned. Unharmred.

And how did you discover you had this power?

Knights in your presence and all of these things makes me think you're a cabalist, and living in Denver metro doesn't really help your case. I'm not judging you I'm just interested in your origins. I read about the wos for years but always assumed another psyop

I reside in Waikiki when not on Maui.

However I was in CO Springs awhile back and spent times with various people. Like the Commamder of the B2 Stealth fleet. He has a home at Whiteman as well. Also visited with the head in charge of protecting our entire East coast from attack. I travel often.
